Farm Bureau Members OK 22 Resolutions

15-Member Board Named at Meeting Wednesday Night

Members of the Fayette County Farm Bureau approved 22 of the 23 resolutions presented to them at their annual meeting in the Farm Bureau auditorium Wednesday night and elected a 15-member board of trustees and delegates to the 1958 state convention.

However, the results of the election of trustees and delegates will not be known for a couple of days because the tellers did not count the votes at the meeting.

Illness put a crimp in the entertainment program that had been planned when only a vocal trio from Good Hope High School was able to appear. Those selected to represent the other three high schools in the Miami Trace district were kept at home by flu.

The board of trustees was reduced from 18 to 15 members when the report of the committee on the code of regulations, headed by Edwin Buck, was approved. Under the new code, the officers will be elected by the trustees from within membership of the board. It also increases the number of women on the board from two to four.

THE BOARD, under the new code, will be made up of one representative from each of the 10 townships, four women and one youth.

The members voted overwhelming to adopt all six resolutions on local issues. They were: support of a farm safety program (66 to 1); enforcement of the law prohibiting dumping of rubbish on highways and an educational program to encourage greater public pride in their countryside (65 to 2); better understanding between farm and city people (66 to 1); to keep membership informed on social security legislation and benefits to farmers (66 to 1) and continue efforts for legislation to require flasher lights at railroad crossings when conditions warrant (66 to 1).

Of the 11 resolutions submitted on state issues, there was serious opposition to only one. To the proposal that "we believe the Farm Bureau Co-operative Assn. should

Judge Delays Decision on Steel Merger

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal judge has reserved decision on the government's motion for a summary judgment to block the merger of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.

At the end of two days of oral argument, Judge Edward Weinfeld Wednesday gave both sides additional time to prepare their case.

Weinfeld gave the government 10 days in which to answer a defense brief, and allowed the defense two weeks beyond that time to present affidavits about testimony it would produce at a trial.

Bethlehem is the nation's second largest steel firm, while Youngstown ranks fifth in the industry. The government contends the proposed merger would violate the antitrust laws.

The companies claim such a merger would stimulate rather than lessen competition.

In reserving decision and asking for additional facts, the judge suggested that a trial might not be needed since it would be "a reiteration of what you put in the affidavits."

The government is proceeding under Section 7 of the Clayton Act banning mergers where the effect "may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly."

The merger plan would involve combined assets in excess of $2,710,607,000, making it one of the largest corporation marriages in history.

FT. CARSON, Colo. (AP) — A trainee at this Army post can hardly remember how to spell his middle name.

That's because the middle name of Pvt. Albert Kahalekulu of Wailuku, Hawaii, is Kahekili-Kalewaokamehameha, which means "Thunder, Oh Great Chief of the Island."

Kahalekulu fits right in. It's Hawaiian for "House is West."

Flying Saucers 'Non-Existent'

Air Force Explodes Reported Sightings

DAYTON (AP)—Air Force officials here and in Washington have categorically branded flying saucers as non-existent.

The Dayton Journal Herald quotes a top official of the Air Technical Intelligence Center as saying that checks of 5,700 reported sightings in the last 10 years failed in every case to offer any evidence of flying saucers.

He said not a single landing impression or footprint of any flying saucer or crew member has ever been found.

The center, located at nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, is the Air Force's main filter center for reports of unidentified flying objects.

In Washington, the Air Force issued the same report. It said:

1. There is no physical or material evidence, not even a minute fragment, that a so-called flying saucer was ever found.

2. THERE IS no evidence that these unknown objects are interplanetary space ships.

3. There is no evidence that they represent any techonological developments outside the range of our everyday scientific knowledge.

4. There is no evidence of unknown hostile objects or of any threat to the security of the country because of them.

The Dayton Journal Herald quoted the officials as saying independent scientists under contract to the Air Force, and not the Air Force itself, determine the validity of the reported sightings.

He said recent reported sightings of unknown flying objects in Texas and Springfield, Ohio, will be explained when the current investigation is completed.

Recent launchings by Russia of Sputnik I and Sputnik II have done much to stimulate sightings, the official said.

This year, the Air Force has investigated 768 reports of flying objects, officials said, and came up with this breakdown:

Balloons, 26.1 per cent; aircraft, 24.6 per cent; astronomical (clouds or meteors) 26.3 per cent; lights or in some cases outright hoaxes) 6.7 per cent; objects that could not be checked out because of insufficient data, 14.1 per cent; unknown, 2.2 per cent.

Miami Trace Suit Faces New Delay

The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday handed down a decision in the test case brought by the Miami Trace Board of Education against Senath Thompson, as clerk of the board, which, in effect, will delay the ultimate determination of the matter for at least several weeks and probably longer.

The board of education originally sued its clerk in a friendly proceeding seeking to establish the authority of the Fayette County Citizens Committee, in order to clear the path for the issuance of $1,652,000 in bonds for the construction of a new high school and repairs and improvements to existing buildings.

The board also asked the court to issue of writ of mandamus to compel its clerk to certify the bond issue resolution passed by the board to the county auditor and to advertise and sell the bonds.

ON JUNE 19, the Supreme Court, in an unanimous decision, held that the mere existence of a Citizens Committee did not restrict the right of a board of education to proceed to issue bonds for the purposes proposed by the Miami Trace district.

At the same time, the court permitted a group of interested taxpayers and citizens (Charles A. Fabb, Frank S. Jackson, Ralph R. Penn, Mrs. Jean Rhoad, Maynard A. Wilson and Will A. Rodgers) to enter the case as defendants and file an answer to the board's petition.

The answer, filed on July 15, raised 12 questions; some of these related to purely procedural matters governing actions in mandamus; others concerned alleged defects in the proposed bond issue.

Mrs. Thompson, as clerk, also filed an amended answer, in which she raised the question that the bond issue was invalid because the voters were asked to pass upon more than one issue at the same time; that is, upon the construction of a new high school building and also upon repair and improvement of existing buildings.

TO THE CLERK'S amended answer, the board's attorneys filed a demurrer, claiming that, for the purpose of issuing bonds, the two matters were really only one. This contention was upheld by the Supreme Court in its decision Wednesday, and the clerk will be dismissed as a party to the suit.

The board of education had moved to strike all of the 12 issues raised by the other defendants on

Ingrid Bergman, Mate Separate

ROME (AP) — Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini separated today, bringing to an end seven tempestuous years of marriage.

An announcement by their attorney said they separated because of incompatibility.

The Rossellinis' married life had recently been complicated by reports that connected the director with a pretty Indian script writer, Sonali Das Gupta.

Ingrid came to Italy eight years ago to play in the movie, "Stromboli," and fell in love with Rossellini. She was pregnant when her affair with the director made head lines, and Robertino, her son by Rossellini, was born seven days before she got a Mexican divorce from her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, on Feb. 9, 1950.

Pickaway Board Turns Down New Holland Transfer Plea

New Holland School District's petition to join the Fayette County school system was rejected Wednesday night by the Pickaway County Board of Education.

In a sweeping move, the Pickaway Board rejected two other petitions for school district transfer and created two new consolidated districts within Pickaway County.

The New Holland petition, bearing 440 signatures, was turned down, the board said, because it is "an essential part of the Pickaway County school system. To release the territory would disrupt present consolidation plans of the Pickaway County Board of Education."

It was a unanimous move with all five board members present.

A RESOLUTION of objection to the transfer petition will be filed with the State Board of Education within 10 days. The state board has 90 days in which to act on the petition and objection resolution. If the state approves the transfer, the Pickaway County board will have an additional 30 days in which to pass the transfer resolution.

There was considerable discussion at the board meeting due to the fact that the New Holland petition was not accompanied by a map showing the outlines of the proposed transfer. The board interprets the law as requiring a map with all transfer petitions.

Other transfer petitions, rejected by the Pickaway board, include one to join the entire Wayne Township Local School District with the Circleville City system, and another to join a portion of Logan Elm School District, comprising about 34 families, and adjacent to the city with the Circleville city system.

Benson Future Studied Anew

Tuesday's Poll Results Seen Bringing Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Impressive victories by Democrats in Tuesday's elections in Eastern states revived speculation today about the tenure of Ezra Taft Benson as secretary of agriculture.

Benson was not directly involved in these elections, although he has been under sharp attack by critics in his own as well as the Democratic party. But the results, indicating a decline in the popularity of the Eisenhower administration, could well affect Benson's future.

Some farm and political leaders said the White House might well be expected to review its position with regard to all major groups and issue with the idea of weeding out trouble spots.

Demands for removal of Benson have been bobbing up from some Republican lawmakers in recent weeks. These pleas reflect concern over next year's congressional elections and predictions of Democrats that they will pick up several Republican seats in farm areas.

ACCOMPANIED by Mrs. Benson and two daughters, the secretary is on a trip around the world checking up on farm disposal programs abroad. His trip, which is being made in a military transport plane, has been accompanied by reports that Benson would quit the Cabinet to become an assistant to the President in charge of a broadened surplus disposal program. The secretary has said, however, that when he leaves the Cabinet he will return to Salt Lake City to resume a post as an apostle of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

U. S. County Officials Group Opens Confab

CINCINNATI (AP) — County officials from various parts of the country met here today to discuss various issues which will be before the next session of Congress.

They met under auspices of the National Assn. of County officials.

Bernard H. Hillenbrand, Washington, D. C. executive secretary, said civil defense, airports, water pollution, welfare administration, finance and highway matters would be discussed.

U. S. Scientists Alert Today For New Red Space Venture

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. scientists watched closely today for any spectacular new Russian venture into space to celebrate this 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Western technicians have speculated the Soviets might try to land a rocket on the moon or announce some other spectacle as a followup to their launching of two earth satellites.

The Russians, crowing over their scientific achievements, have given no indication of immediate plans to reach the moon, some 225,000 miles away. However, some Soviet scientists have said such a feat is within reach.

Telescopes at the Naval Observatory were trained at the moon Wednesday night, as they have been for some time in connection with studies related to the International Geophysical Year.

Cmdr. W. M. Robinson, acting superintendent of the observatory, said "We're not just looking to see if a red star suddenly blossoms on the moon. But if anything hits the moon we expect to see it."

MEANTIME, skywatchers reported more sightings today of Russia's Sputnik II.

The Soviet news agency Tass said in Moscow Wednesday night that Laika, the little dog strapped inside Sputnik II, was in satisfactory condition after four days in the sky. The Russians have said they are getting radio information from the satellite on Laika's heart action, blood pressure and breathing.

Tass said Sputnik II completed its 54th trip around the earth Wednesday night. This satellite was launched last Sunday.

The Soviet news agency said the first Russian space vehicle, a small sphere, had completed 500 circuits and its carrier rocket had finished 520 round trips. Sputnik I, accompanied by the rocket that pushed it aloft, has been in orbit since Oct. 4.

Tass said that on the basis of three days of radio reports from Sputnik II it was possible to ascertain its orbit more exactly and to estimate that the second satellite would stay up much longer than Sputnik I. Some American scientists have predicted the first satellite will drop Dec. 11 to a flaming death.

So far, American scientists have received little information from the Russians on the two satellites.

Hugh Odishaw, executive secretary of the U. S. National Committee for the IGY, said American officials do not expect to receive any such information from the Russians on Sputnik II for "several months at a minimum." Odishaw said this estimate is based on "our own experience with data from our own rocket program for the IGY."

Injured Texan, 30, Admits Car Theft

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Texan with his hip in a cast has hitchhiked here from Dallas to surrender on an old auto theft charge.

Leonard H. Fancher, 30, waived a hearing Wednesday before U.S. Commissioner G. P. Hunt and was held in $2,000 bond.

Fancher, of Wichita Falls, Tex., is accused of bringing a stolen car from Dallas to Milford.

He said that after returning to Texas from the trip here, he was injured in a truck accident and hospitalized with a pelvis fracture. Fancher said that is when he decided to give himself up.

Russia Displays Newest Weapons

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union celebrated its 40th anniversary today with a parade through Red Square of new weapons to give its armed forces greater mobility and more rocket power.

In a swift march past leaders of the Communist world, the annual Nov. 7 parade showed new heavy armor including a pair of long distance missiles, one of an estimated 70-foot length.

Foreign observers in the reviewing stands estimated that most of the 38 major rockets shown in various sizes and types were tactical rather than strategic weapons, designed for direct support of ground troops.

In his first public appearance since he replaced Marshal Georgi Zhukov as defense minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky made the speech of the day attacking the United States and assuring the Russians could meet any attack.

Standing atop the Lenin-Stalin tomb, where Zhukov had reviewed the last five military parades, Malinovsky asserted:

"AGGRESSIVE foreign circles, notably in the U.S.A., pursue a policy aimed at increasing international tension, preventing disarmament and threatening mankind with the dangers of atomic war."

The Soviet people, he declared, "ardently desire peace," but "the Soviet armed forces are capable of crushing any aggressor should he attack our country."

Communist leaders from nearly 60 nations were gathered with Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and other members of the Soviet government on the tomb as Malinovsky opened celebrations of "the great October (Bolshevik) Revolution."

Communists seized power in Russia 40 years ago today, on Oct. 25, 1917, by the old Russian calendar then in use but on Nov. 7 by the revised calendar.

Heavy clouds prevented the usual flypast of new Soviet planes. But in front of the Kremlin, rockets dominated the packed crowd's attention.

There were two sizes of massive rockets possibly intended for strategic long-range use. The length of one was estimated at about 70

U. S., Soviet Farm Living Is Compared

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Foreign Agricultural Service chose today's 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution to draw some contrasts between progress under Russian communism and this country's democracy.

"The Soviet Union is making much of this date, and is alleging progress that the facts do not bear out," the agency said in its monthly magazine "Foreign Agriculture."

"Citizens of the Soviet Union learn little of the outside free world and have scant opportunity to compare their lot with that of citizens of non-Communist countries," it added.

The agency, a unit of the Agriculture Department, said that in Russia there has been little improvement in what it called the real wages paid workers.

"The average Soviet worker, after 40 years of Soviet rule, today must work three hours to earn a dozen eggs, 62 hours to earn a pair of leather shoes, and 1,400 hours to earn a wool suit. The true record of the Soviet Union, by way of providing more of the good things of life for its people, is negative."

President Due On TV Tonight

8 p. m. Address To Give First Report to Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower held a second expanded National Security Council session today. He called in the greatest attendance of outside experts ever brought into one of these top policy-making meetings.

Mrs. Anne Wheaton, acting White House press secretary, said there was no direct relationship between the meeting and Eisenhower's address tonight on science and security.

The speech, at 8 p. m. EST, is to be the first of a series of presidential addresses designed to reassure the nation about its scientific progress and security.

The series is on an accelerated schedule with this first one moved up six days ahead of the original plan.

While the specific purpose of the Security Council session was not disclosed, Mrs. Wheaton told reporters that "Yes, I would say it is connected with all developments of the last week or 10 days." That would take in the period of the launching of Sputnik II by Soviet Russia.

ALL TOLD, some 45 persons gathered at the White House for the NSC meeting.

The NSC has five members by law—the President, the vice president, the secretaries of state and defense and the director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Customarily, other top officials from the White House and executive agencies also are brought in, so that some 25 persons are present.

Added to the list today were the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force and the chiefs of staff of the military services, plus members and advisers to the Science Advisory Committee of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

An enlarged NSC meeting was also held last week.

'Tidal Wave' of Nationalism Sweeping Asia, Envoy Says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With a sense of urgency, America's largest conference on Asia plunged into its first full day's session today.

"A tidal wave" of nationalism is sweeping the peoples of the East, Undersecretary of State Christian A. Harter told the 1,500 delegates Wednesday night at the opening session of the sixth National Conference of UNESCO.

Speaking in the same gilt War Memorial Opera House where the United Nations was created 12 years ago, Herter told in urgent terms of his recent trip to Asia where he saw the Federation of Malaya born as a sovereign nation. He noted there had been 10 such sovereign births in the Orient since World War II.

"It would be a dull person indeed who would not conclude that a drive for freedom and self-determination has swept the perimeter of Asia with the force of a tidal wave," he said.

"But I was more deeply impressed with a feeling of matching intensity that I encountered in many places. This was the realization that illiteracy, sickness, misery and the other tragic components of a sub-marginal existence were not for them, or for anyone, a necessary condition of life."

Noting that America's amalgam of cultures comes mostly from the West, Herter declared:

"I think it is time we turned east toward Asia to listen and to learn. The delegates attending this conference have a rare opportunity to set a pattern which can be adopted from here, at the Pacific gateway, all the way to my home city of Boston."

Learning from Asia, Herter said, was one of the "new dimensions in diplomacy" which he discussed. He called for mutual realization among all peoples that they are dependent on one another.

Sputnik II Coming Apart

Scientists Hint Reds Trying Bring Pup Home

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Russia's new satellite may have come apart in space, scientists say.

While Dr. Fred L. Whipple, Smithsonian Astrophysical Laboratory director, said he had no confirmation of reports arriving from various sources that Sputnik II may be coming apart, he said that such a development was quite possible.

Andrew B. Ledwith, the observatory's radio technician, reported today that the radio tone of the satellite on the 20-megacycle band seemed to be spread out in time, as though coming from two separate radio-equipped objects.

There has been speculation that the Russians might attempt to eject the chamber carrying the dog, Laika, from the main rocket, possibly today—the 40th anniversary of the Russian Revolution.

The dog-carrying satellite was sighted by thousands of early risers as it orbited across the U. S. three times before sunrise today.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory received calls from amateurs and Moonwatch teams throughout New England, New York State and as far south as Washington, D. C., and west to Ohio.

The Moonwatch team on the roof of the Harvard Observatory timed the satellite at 5:11:12 a.m.

Dr. Armand Spitz, Smithsonian's coordinator of visual sighting, said the rocket appeared to be almost as bright as the planet Jupiter.

Observers noted the brightness changed until it was almost as dim as a faint star approximately every few seconds. This was because the object was tumbling end over end in space.

The satellite was estimated to be only 150 miles high.

IN SAN FRANCISCO Wednesday, the new satellite looked brighter and faster than Sputnik I as it zipped over the southwest horizon at dawn. It disappeared to the

Cincy Council Now Headed By Republicans

CINCINNATI (AP) — Republicans will have a one-vote majority in City Council here as the result of the first election under the simple majority system in more than three decades.

That's the setup under the unofficial count of all 724 city precincts. Republicans captured five seats; Carter Party incumbents took four.

Mayor Charles P. Taft, a Charterite in city elections, zoomed ahead of both parties' candidates in final results, followed by two other Charterites — Vincent H. Beckman and John J. Gilligan.

The successful GOP candidates followed in a cluster—incumbents Donald D. Clancy, William Cody Kelly, Walton H. Bachrach, and newcomers Gordon Rich and Joseph L. Decourcy.

Charterite Dorothy N. Dolbey, in a three-way fight for the ninth place under early returns, pulled away quickly in the late count to decisively gain reelection.

The Charter Party is a combination of Democrats and liberal Republicans that evolved during the years when Cincinnati voted for councilors under the proportional representation system.

Voters earlier this fall junked the PR system and substituted the simple majority method.

The selection of a new mayor, presumably a Republican, now is the object of speculation. The council elects the mayor.

Tuesday's Poll Results Seen Bringing Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Impressive victories by Democrats in Tuesday's elections in Eastern states revived speculation today about the tenure of Ezra Taft Benson as secretary of agriculture.

Benson was not directly involved in these elections, although he has been under sharp attack by critics in his own as well as the Democratic party. But the results, indicating a decline in the popularity of the Eisenhower administration, could well affect Benson's future.

Some farm and political leaders said the White House might well be expected to review its position with regard to all major groups and issue with the idea of weeding out trouble spots.

Demands for removal of Benson have been bobbing up from some Republican lawmakers in recent weeks. These pleas reflect concern over next year's congressional elections and predictions of Democrats that they will pick up several Republican seats in farm areas.

ACCOMPANIED by Mrs. Benson and two daughters, the secretary is on a trip around the world checking up on farm disposal programs abroad. His trip, which is being made in a military transport plane, has been accompanied by reports that Benson would quit the Cabinet to become an assistant to the President in charge of a broadened surplus disposal program. The secretary has said, however, that when he leaves the Cabinet he will return to Salt Lake City to resume a post as an apostle of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

U. S. County Officials Group Opens Confab

CINCINNATI (AP) — County officials from various parts of the country met here today to discuss various issues which will be before the next session of Congress.

They met under auspices of the National Assn. of County officials.

Bernard H. Hillenbrand, Washington, D. C. executive secretary, said civil defense, airports, water pollution, welfare administration, finance and highway matters would be discussed.

Russia Displays Newest Weapons

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union celebrated its 40th anniversary today with a parade through Red Square of new weapons to give its armed forces greater mobility and more rocket power.

In a swift march past leaders of the Communist world, the annual Nov. 7 parade showed new heavy armor including a pair of long distance missiles, one of an estimated 70-foot length.

Foreign observers in the reviewing stands estimated that most of the 38 major rockets shown in various sizes and types were tactical rather than strategic weapons, designed for direct support of ground troops.

In his first public appearance since he replaced Marshal Georgi Zhukov as defense minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky made the speech of the day attacking the United States and assuring the Russians could meet any attack.

Standing atop the Lenin-Stalin tomb, where Zhukov had reviewed the last five military parades, Malinovsky asserted:

"AGGRESSIVE foreign circles, notably in the U.S.A., pursue a policy aimed at increasing international tension, preventing disarmament and threatening mankind with the dangers of atomic war."

The Soviet people, he declared, "ardently desire peace," but "the Soviet armed forces are capable of crushing any aggressor should he attack our country."

Communist leaders from nearly 60 nations were gathered with Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and other members of the Soviet government on the tomb as Malinovsky opened celebrations of "the great October (Bolshevik) Revolution."

Communists seized power in Russia 40 years ago today, on Oct. 25, 1917, by the old Russian calendar then in use but on Nov. 7 by the revised calendar.

Heavy clouds prevented the usual flypast of new Soviet planes. But in front of the Kremlin, rockets dominated the packed crowd's attention.

There were two sizes of massive rockets possibly intended for strategic long-range use. The length of one was estimated at about 70

U. S., Soviet Farm Living Is Compared

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Foreign Agricultural Service chose today's 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution to draw some contrasts between progress under Russian communism and this country's democracy.

"The Soviet Union is making much of this date, and is alleging progress that the facts do not bear out," the agency said in its monthly magazine "Foreign Agriculture."

"Citizens of the Soviet Union learn little of the outside free world and have scant opportunity to compare their lot with that of citizens of non-Communist countries," it added.

The agency, a unit of the Agriculture Department, said that in Russia there has been little improvement in what it called the real wages paid workers.

"The average Soviet worker, after 40 years of Soviet rule, today must work three hours to earn a dozen eggs, 62 hours to earn a pair of leather shoes, and 1,400 hours to earn a wool suit. The true record of the Soviet Union, by way of providing more of the good things of life for its people, is negative."

Sputnik II Coming Apart

Scientists Hint Reds Trying Bring Pup Home

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Russia's new satellite may have come apart in space, scientists say.

While Dr. Fred L. Whipple, Smithsonian Astrophysical Laboratory director, said he had no confirmation of reports arriving from various sources that Sputnik II may be coming apart, he said that such a development was quite possible.

Andrew B. Ledwith, the observatory's radio technician, reported today that the radio tone of the satellite on the 20-megacycle band seemed to be spread out in time, as though coming from two separate radio-equipped objects.

There has been speculation that the Russians might attempt to eject the chamber carrying the dog, Laika, from the main rocket, possibly today—the 40th anniversary of the Russian Revolution.

The dog-carrying satellite was sighted by thousands of early risers as it orbited across the U. S. three times before sunrise today.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory received calls from amateurs and Moonwatch teams throughout New England, New York State and as far south as Washington, D. C., and west to Ohio.

The Moonwatch team on the roof of the Harvard Observatory timed the satellite at 5:11:12 a.m.

Dr. Armand Spitz, Smithsonian's coordinator of visual sighting, said the rocket appeared to be almost as bright as the planet Jupiter.

Observers noted the brightness changed until it was almost as dim as a faint star approximately every few seconds. This was because the object was tumbling end over end in space.

The satellite was estimated to be only 150 miles high.

IN SAN FRANCISCO Wednesday, the new satellite looked brighter and faster than Sputnik I as it zipped over the southwest horizon at dawn. It disappeared to the

President Due On TV Tonight

8 p. m. Address To Give First Report to Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower held a second expanded National Security Council session today. He called in the greatest attendance of outside experts ever brought into one of these top policy-making meetings.

Mrs. Anne Wheaton, acting White House press secretary, said there was no direct relationship between the meeting and Eisenhower's address tonight on science and security.

The speech, at 8 p. m. EST, is to be the first of a series of presidential addresses designed to reassure the nation about its scientific progress and security.

The series is on an accelerated schedule with this first one moved up six days ahead of the original plan.

While the specific purpose of the Security Council session was not disclosed, Mrs. Wheaton told reporters that "Yes, I would say it is connected with all developments of the last week or 10 days." That would take in the period of the launching of Sputnik II by Soviet Russia.

ALL TOLD, some 45 persons gathered at the White House for the NSC meeting.

The NSC has five members by law—the President, the vice president, the secretaries of state and defense and the director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Customarily, other top officials from the White House and executive agencies also are brought in, so that some 25 persons are present.

Added to the list today were the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force and the chiefs of staff of the military services, plus members and advisers to the Science Advisory Committee of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

An enlarged NSC meeting was also held last week.

Cincy Council Now Headed By Republicans

CINCINNATI (AP) — Republicans will have a one-vote majority in City Council here as the result of the first election under the simple majority system in more than three decades.

That's the setup under the unofficial count of all 724 city precincts. Republicans captured five seats; Carter Party incumbents took four.

Mayor Charles P. Taft, a Charterite in city elections, zoomed ahead of both parties' candidates in final results, followed by two other Charterites — Vincent H. Beckman and John J. Gilligan.

The successful GOP candidates followed in a cluster—incumbents Donald D. Clancy, William Cody Kelly, Walton H. Bachrach, and newcomers Gordon Rich and Joseph L. Decourcy,

Charterite Dorothy N. Dolbey, in a three-way fight for the ninth place under early returns, pulled away quickly in the late count to decisively gain reelection.

The Charter Party is a combination of Democrats and liberal Republicans that evolved during the years when Cincinnati voted for councilors under the proportional representation system.

Voters earlier this fall junked the PR system and substituted the simple majority method.

The selection of a new mayor, presumably a Republican, now is the object of speculation. The council elects the mayor.

U. S. Scientists Alert Today For New Red Space Venture

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. scientists watched closely today for any spectacular new Russian venture into space to celebrate this 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Western technicians have speculated the Soviets might try to land a rocket on the moon or announce some other spectacle as a followup to their launching of two earth satellites.

The Russians, crowing over their scientific achievements, have given no indication of immediate plans to reach the moon, some 225,000 miles away. However, some Soviet scientists have said such a feat is within reach.

Telescopes at the Naval Observatory were trained at the moon Wednesday night, as they have been for some time in connection with studies related to the International Geophysical Year.

Cmdr. W. M. Robinson, acting superintendent of the observatory, said "We're not just looking to see if a red star suddenly blossoms on the moon. But if anything hits the moon we expect to see it."

MEANTIME, skywatchers reported more sightings today of Russia's Sputnik II.

The Soviet news agency Tass said in Moscow Wednesday night that Laika, the little dog strapped inside Sputnik II, was in satisfactory condition after four days in the sky. The Russians have said they are getting radio information from the satellite on Laika's heart action, blood pressure and breathing.

Tass said Sputnik II completed its 54th trip around the earth Wednesday night. This satellite was launched last Sunday.

The Soviet news agency said the first Russian space vehicle, a small sphere, had completed 500 circuits and its carrier rocket had finished 520 round trips. Sputnik I, accompanied by the rocket that pushed it aloft, has been in orbit since Oct. 4.

Tass said that on the basis of three days of radio reports from Sputnik II it was possible to ascertain its orbit more exactly and to estimate that the second satellite would stay up much longer than Sputnik I. Some American scientists have predicted the first satellite will drop Dec. 11 to a flaming death.

So far, American scientists have received little information from the Russians on the two satellites.

Hugh Odishaw, executive secretary of the U. S. National Committee for the IGY, said American officials do not expect to receive any such information from the Russians on Sputnik II for "several months at a minimum." Odishaw said this estimate is based on "our own experience with data from our own rocket program for the IGY."

Injured Texan, 30, Admits Car Theft

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Texan with his hip in a cast has hitchhiked here from Dallas to surrender on an old auto theft charge.

Leonard H. Fancher, 30, waived a hearing Wednesday before U.S. Commissioner G. P. Hunt and was held in $2,000 bond.

Fancher, of Wichita Falls, Tex., is accused of bringing a stolen car from Dallas to Milford.

He said that after returning to Texas from the trip here, he was injured in a truck accident and hospitalized with a pelvis fracture. Fancher said that is when he decided to give himself up.

Pickaway Board Turns Down New Holland Transfer Plea

New Holland School District's petition to join the Fayette County school system was rejected Wednesday night by the Pickaway County Board of Education.

In a sweeping move, the Pickaway Board rejected two other petitions for school district transfer and created two new consolidated districts within Pickaway County.

The New Holland petition, bearing 440 signatures, was turned down, the board said, because it is "an essential part of the Pickaway County school system. To release the territory would disrupt present consolidation plans of the Pickaway County Board of Education."

It was a unanimous move with all five board members present.

A RESOLUTION of objection to the transfer petition will be filed with the State Board of Education within 10 days. The state board has 90 days in which to act on the petition and objection resolution. If the state approves the transfer, the Pickaway County board will have an additional 30 days in which to pass the transfer resolution.

There was considerable discussion at the board meeting due to the fact that the New Holland petition was not accompanied by a map showing the outlines of the proposed transfer. The board interprets the law as requiring a map with all transfer petitions.

Other transfer petitions, rejected by the Pickaway board, include one to join the entire Wayne Township Local School District with the Circleville City system, and another to join a portion of Logan Elm School District, comprising about 34 families, and adjacent to the city with the Circleville city system.

'Tidal Wave' of Nationalism Sweeping Asia, Envoy Says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With a sense of urgency, America's largest conference on Asia plunged into its first full day's session today.

"A tidal wave" of nationalism is sweeping the peoples of the East, Undersecretary of State Christian A. Harter told the 1,500 delegates Wednesday night at the opening session of the sixth National Conference of UNESCO.

Speaking in the same gilt War Memorial Opera House where the United Nations was created 12 years ago, Herter told in urgent terms of his recent trip to Asia where he saw the Federation of Malaya born as a sovereign nation. He noted there had been 10 such sovereign births in the Orient since World War II.

"It would be a dull person indeed who would not conclude that a drive for freedom and self-determination has swept the perimeter of Asia with the force of a tidal wave," he said.

"But I was more deeply impressed with a feeling of matching intensity that I encountered in many places. This was the realization that illiteracy, sickness, misery and the other tragic components of a sub-marginal existence were not for them, or for anyone, a necessary condition of life."

Noting that America's amalgam of cultures comes mostly from the West, Herter declared:

"I think it is time we turned east toward Asia to listen and to learn. The delegates attending this conference have a rare opportunity to set a pattern which can be adopted from here, at the Pacific gateway, all the way to my home city of Boston."

Learning from Asia, Herter said, was one of the "new dimensions in diplomacy" which he discussed. He called for mutual realization among all peoples that they are dependent on one another.

Snails Sets House Afire in England

Court Decides Insurance Suit

County To Pay Hospital Premiums

Common Pleas Court Judge John P. Case Thursday ruled that the county government is responsible for paying premiums on insurance policies obtained for Fayette Memorial Hospital by the board of hospital trustees.

Decision came in a friendly suit filed by the trustees against the county commissioners, the county auditor and the county treasurer, to determine who should pay $699.33 in premiums on a hospital professional insurance policy the board purchased last year.

It excepted only "those types of insurance protection, if any, which may be expressly prohibited by law."

THE DECISION specifically cleared the path for payment of the $699.33 due on the three - year policy in question. Of the sum, $374.71 was due May 8, 1957, and $338.62 is due in 1958.

An additional sum of $460.88, completing payment for the three - year policy, was paid by the county in 1956.

In placing the responsibility for payment, Judge Case's entry said that the law cited by the hospital board "places no limitation upon the amounts and forms of insurance protection to be designated. . and further makes it mandatory upon such board of county commissioners to secure such protection. . ."

HEARING on the case was held in Common Pleas Court Wednesday. County officials filed no answer or demurrer and were not represented by counsel.

Mrs. Fern Chaffin, secretary of the hospital board, and County Commissioner Robert Cockerill were the only witnesses.

Idaho Solon Demands End To 'Muddle'

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Sen. Frank F. Church (D-Idaho), demanding "an end to the missile muddle," urged the administration today to press for a new Manhattan Project.

Manhattan Project was the code name for the World War II research that led to American development of the first atomic bomb, exploded at Hiroshima in 1945.

The 33-year-old senator, in a keynote speech opening the 10th biennial convention of the Young Democrats of America, warned that American failure to keep pace with Russia "is to invite an attack upon us."

Church, a former young Democratic state president, accused the Eisenhower administration of complacency and of "spreading a barrage of bland ballyhoo whhch has tranquilized our country for five long years."

He emphasized it was under the Democratic administrations of Presidents Roosevelt and Truman that the United States perfected the new atomic weapon.

"The people have a right to know," he said, "that in giving birth to the Sputnik twins, the Russians have scored the most spectacular victory in the continuing psychological war between a Communist and a free government since the United States contrived and detonated the A-bomb 12 years ago."

ALL THE OTHER 10 were adopted too, but with only slight opposition. They were: for the Farm Bureau to continue its efforts for mail service to all farms on all-weather roads, for the Farm Bureau to recommend that Congress and the president support the Post Office Department request for increasing rates on "bulk mailings now flooding our mail boxes and a study aimed at re-reouting mail routes (66-1, 65-2 and 66-1 on each of the three parts); compulsory workman's compensation for all employers (60-7); support of right-to-work bill (65-2); opposition to reapportionment (66-1); opposition to titling and licensing farm machinery (63-4); safeguards for natural waterways and ditch outlets on all new road construction (66-1); opposition to state income tax (63-4); licensing and schooling for grain testers at elevators (66-1); law to relieve farmers of responsibility for injury to trespassers (64 - 3); and study to find other sources of tax revenue to relieve real estate tax load (65-2).

FOUR of the five resolutions on national issues were adopted. They were use of agricultural commodity surpluses for aid and relief in place of dollars, both domestically and internationally, and that part be charged to the U. S. State Department (66-1); cooperation of Farm Bureau with other farm organizations "to bring about unity of thought and action in working out a farm program for the welfare of farmers (65-2); legislation to require acreage allotment be based on sound soil conservation practices rather than on historical basis," (62-5) and encourage farm product research for better utilization and distribution (64-3).

By a vote of 34 to 33 the resolution for the "use of the 100 weight in measurement rather than by bushels" was rejected.

A PANEL of five men and one woman discussed six questions relating to the farm program. Ralph Nisley took up "No Price Supports— No Farm Program;" Mrs. Fred Shoop, office manager of the Fayette County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, explained "The Soil Bank Program as It Is Today;" Dorm Cheatwood, regional Farm Bureau supervisor, talked on the "Proposed Benson Plan — 60 per cent of Priority Lower Parity if Congress Will Allow Him;" Frank Sollars elaborated on a proposal to abolish the present price support program and replace it with a "positive production control program financed by CCC stocks of the commodity involved" and, if overproduction is still depressing the market, make direct production control payments to farmers to bring production in line; Barton Montgomery discussed a proposal to urge Congress to adopt "drastic measures" to protect the parity of income to farmers and Edwin Buck spoke on the "Two - Price Plan."

Bill Zipf, Columbus newspaper farm reporter, was the panel moderator.

THE RESOLUTIONS will be passed along to the state Farm Bureau resolutions committee for its consideration in drafting a report to be submitted to the state Farm Bureau convention in Columbus Nov. 25 - 27.

Members of the Fayette County Farm Bureau resolutions committee are Kenneth Bush, Delbert Morris, Frank Sollars, Edwin Buck, Barton Montgomery, Donald Rife, Glen Smith, Harry Hiser and Mrs. Ralph Agle.

Leland Dorn, president, conducted the business meeting at which the financial report showed net income for the year ending Sept. 30 $4,894.85. Dues amounted to $6,680, but $2,672 went to the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Miami Trace Suit

the ground that they were "a sham and frivolous". The Supreme Court sustained this argument with regard to four of the 12 defenses, but overruled it as to the other eight, leaving the burden of further proceedings to the Miami Trace board.

The issues dismissed related only to the wording of the petition in mandamus before the court and involved no matters of fact to be decided.

The court granted the Miami Trace attorneys 20 days within which to plead to the answer of the defendants. Local attorneys say this pleading would probably take the form of a reply, which might deny all of the allegations of the answer, or might admit a part and deny others.

The filing of this reply gives the intervening taxpayers an opportunity to file motions or demurrers, with the subsequent briefs, oral arguments and decisions. Eventually, it is assumed, the effect of Wednesday's decision will be to force a trial of the issues raised in the answer and not stricken by the court.

THE ISSUES remaining which might be the subject of testimony, as stated in the answer of the taxpayers, are these:

(1) That the Miami Trace Board, the Fayette County Board of Education and its Superintendent, W. J. Hilty, "pursued a course of action, including the bond proceedings herein, for the purpose of avoiding their respective duties. ." to call a convention to select a county citizens committee.

(2) That both boards of education, and their employes, used public monies illegally, together with threats and intimidations, to secure passage of the bond issue on Nov. 6, 1956.

(3) That the clerk, Senath Thompson, failed to comply with the Ohio Bond Act requiring her to certify the depreciation rates of the buildings and other improvements to be purchased with the proceeds of the bonds.

(4) That the Miami Trace Board of Education, after the successful passage of the bond issue, never actually passed a resolution directing its clerk to take the necessary steps to sell the bonds.

(5) That a portion of the money raised from the bonds will be used to construct a football stadium.

(6) That the Board failed to provide a method of paying the interest for the first year upon the bonds, after they are issued. (The board, in September, 1957, certified to the county auditor a budget including this interest payment, but the auditor, upon the advise of Fayette County Prosecutor Rollo M. Marchant, refused to certify it or place it upon the tax duplicate for collection).

(7) That the Fayette County auditor, Harry Allen, in certifying the tax valuation standing behind the bond issue, made serious errors due to transfers out of Miami Trace School District, and there is actually insufficient valuation to justify so large a bond issue.

(8) "That the various actions of the (Board of Education) complained of constitute bad faith or an abuse of discretion on its part sufficient to invalidate said bond proceedings."

Dr. Gerard Kuiper, director of the University of Chicago's Yerkes Observatory at Lake Geneva, Wis. observed the satellite for two minutes through binoculars.

His calculations indicate, he said, that the rocket makes a complete end-over-end tumble each four to six minutes.

Kuiper, in his report to the university, said that at its brightest, the satellite, which reflects the sun's light, was of -3 degrees magnitude, in the same order as Venus and Jupiter.

In Cleveland, William Kennedy, a U. S. Weather Bureau forecaster, said he saw the satellite with the naked eye. He said he couldn't tell the shape, but it looked "something like a fat star."

Special Talks

talked down the idea of any cause and effect connection, the speed-up in the Eisenhower speaking program followed a special Cabinet meeting Wednesday and an announcement by Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas of plans for a "searching inquiry" into the whole missiles and satellite programs.

Tonight's address also was timed, at least to some degree on purpose, to coincide with Russia's observance today of the 40th anniversary of the Red revolution.

EISENHOWER'S speech will be carried live by all national radio networks and the CBS television network. It will be carried on film by ABC-TV at 10:30 p. m. and by NBC-TV at 11:15.

Eisenhower announced more than a fortnight ago that he intended to strike out around the country and make a series of speeches to bolster national confidence in America's scientific progress, national defense and his foreign policy.

It was announced that the first address would be made in Oklahoma City Nov. 13. But suddenly the initial speech was rescheduled for Washington tonight. The President still plans to fly to Oklahoma and make one of the series of addresses there.

Ten House Republicans urged Eisenhower Wednesday night to tell the nation exactly where it stands, "regardless of how serious or unpleasant these facts may be."

They said "we cannot overstate the intense feeling expressed to us" by constituents they said are concerned over Russia's achievements in space.

Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass), criticizing "the complacency and the confusion" he said abound in the U. S. programs, also called on Eisenhower to "tell us exactly where we stand today and where we go from here."

Court Decides Insurance Suit

County To Pay Hospital Premiums

Common Pleas Court Judge John P. Case Thursday ruled that the county government is responsible for paying premiums on insurance policies obtained for Fayette Memorial Hospital by the board of hospital trustees.

Decision came in a friendly suit filed by the trustees against the county commissioners, the county auditor and the county treasurer, to determine who should pay $699.33 in premiums on a hospital professional insurance policy the board purchased last year.

It excepted only "those types of insurance protection, if any, which may be expressly prohibited by law."

THE DECISION specifically cleared the path for payment of the $699.33 due on the three - year policy in question. Of the sum, $374.71 was due May 8, 1957, and $338.62 is due in 1958.

An additional sum of $460.88, completing payment for the three - year policy, was paid by the county in 1956.

In placing the responsibility for payment, Judge Case's entry said that the law cited by the hospital board "places no limitation upon the amounts and forms of insurance protection to be designated. . and further makes it mandatory upon such board of county commissioners to secure such protection. . ."

HEARING on the case was held in Common Pleas Court Wednesday. County officials filed no answer or demurrer and were not represented by counsel.

Mrs. Fern Chaffin, secretary of the hospital board, and County Commissioner Robert Cockerill were the only witnesses.

Idaho Solon Demands End To 'Muddle'

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Sen. Frank F. Church (D-Idaho), demanding "an end to the missile muddle," urged the administration today to press for a new Manhattan Project.

Manhattan Project was the code name for the World War II research that led to American development of the first atomic bomb, exploded at Hiroshima in 1945.

The 33-year-old senator, in a keynote speech opening the 10th biennial convention of the Young Democrats of America, warned that American failure to keep pace with Russia "is to invite an attack upon us."

Church, a former young Democratic state president, accused the Eisenhower administration of complacency and of "spreading a barrage of bland ballyhoo whhch has tranquilized our country for five long years."

He emphasized it was under the Democratic administrations of Presidents Roosevelt and Truman that the United States perfected the new atomic weapon.

"The people have a right to know," he said, "that in giving birth to the Sputnik twins, the Russians have scored the most spectacular victory in the continuing psychological war between a Communist and a free government since the United States contrived and detonated the A-bomb 12 years ago."

Farm Bureau Meeting change its name," the vote was 40 yes and 27 no.

ALL THE OTHER 10 were adopted too, but with only slight opposition. They were: for the Farm Bureau to continue its efforts for mail service to all farms on all-weather roads, for the Farm Bureau to recommend that Congress and the president support the Post Office Department request for increasing rates on "bulk mailings now flooding our mail boxes and a study aimed at re-reouting mail routes (66-1, 65-2 and 66-1 on each of the three parts); compulsory workman's compensation for all employers (60-7); support of right-to-work bill (65-2); opposition to reapportionment (66-1); opposition to titling and licensing farm machinery (63-4); safeguards for natural waterways and ditch outlets on all new road construction (66-1); opposition to state income tax (63-4); licensing and schooling for grain testers at elevators (66-1); law to relieve farmers of responsibility for injury to trespassers (64 - 3); and study to find other sources of tax revenue to relieve real estate tax load (65-2).

FOUR of the five resolutions on national issues were adopted. They were use of agricultural commodity surpluses for aid and relief in place of dollars, both domestically and internationally, and that part be charged to the U. S. State Department (66-1); cooperation of Farm Bureau with other farm organizations "to bring about unity of thought and action in working out a farm program for the welfare of farmers (65-2); legislation to require acreage allotment be based on sound soil conservation practices rather than on historical basis," (62-5) and encourage farm product research for better utilization and distribution (64-3).

By a vote of 34 to 33 the resolution for the "use of the 100 weight in measurement rather than by bushels" was rejected.

A PANEL of five men and one woman discussed six questions relating to the farm program. Ralph Nisley took up "No Price Supports— No Farm Program;" Mrs. Fred Shoop, office manager of the Fayette County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, explained "The Soil Bank Program as It Is Today;" Dorm Cheatwood, regional Farm Bureau supervisor, talked on the "Proposed Benson Plan — 60 per cent of Priority Lower Parity if Congress Will Allow Him;" Frank Sollars elaborated on a proposal to abolish the present price support program and replace it with a "positive production control program financed by CCC stocks of the commodity involved" and, if overproduction is still depressing the market, make direct production control payments to farmers to bring production in line; Barton Montgomery discussed a proposal to urge Congress to adopt "drastic measures" to protect the parity of income to farmers and Edwin Buck spoke on the "Two - Price Flan."

Bill Zipf, Columbus newspaper farm reporter, was the panel moderator.

THE RESOLUTIONS will be passed along to the state Farm Bureau resolutions committee for its consideration in drafting a report to be submitted to the state Farm Bureau convention in Columbus Nov. 25 - 27.

Members of the Fayette County Farm Bureau resolutions committee are Kenneth Bush, Delbert Morris, Frank Sollars, Edwin Buck, Barton Montgomery, Donald Rife, Glen Smith, Harry Hiser and Mrs. Ralph Agle.

Leland Dorn, president, conducted the business meeting at which the financial report showed net income for the year ending Sept. 30 $4,894.85. Dues amounted to $6,680, but $2,672 went to the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Miami Trace Suit

the ground that they were "a sham and frivolous". The Supreme Court sustained this argument with regard to four of the 12 defenses, but overruled it as to the other eight, leaving the burden of further proceedings to the Miami Trace board.

The issues dismissed related only to the wording of the petition in mandamus before the court and involved no matters of fact to be decided.

The court granted the Miami Trace attorneys 20 days within which to plead to the answer of the defendants. Local attorneys say this pleading would probably take the form of a reply, which might deny all of the allegations of the answer, or might admit a part and deny others.

The filing of this reply gives the intervening taxpayers an opportunity to file motions or demurrers, with the subsequent briefs, oral arguments and decisions. Eventually, it is assumed, the effect of Wednesday's decision will be to force a trial of the issues raised in the answer and not stricken by the court.

THE ISSUES remaining which might be the subject of testimony, as stated in the answer of the taxpayers, are these:

(1) That the Miami Trace Board, the Fayette County Board of Education and its Superintendent, W. J. Hilty, "pursued a course of action, including the bond proceedings herein, for the purpose of avoiding their respective duties. ." to call a convention to select a county citizens committee.

(2) That both boards of education, and their employes, used public monies illegally, together with threats and intimidations, to secure passage of the bond issue on Nov. 6, 1956.

(3) That the clerk, Senath Thompson, failed to comply with the Ohio Bond Act requiring her to certify the depreciation rates of the buildings and other improvements to be purchased with the proceeds of the bonds.

(4) That the Miami Trace Board of Education, after the successful passage of the bond issue, never actually passed a resolution directing its clerk to take the necessary steps to sell the bonds.

(5) That a portion of the money raised from the bonds will be used to construct a football stadium.

(6) That the Board failed to provide a method of paying the interest for the first year upon the bonds, after they are issued. (The board, in September, 1957, certified to the county auditor a budget including this interest payment, but the auditor, upon the advise of Fayette County Prosecutor Rollo M. Marchant, refused to certify it or place it upon the tax duplicate for collection).

(7) That the Fayette County auditor, Harry Allen, in certifying the tax valuation standing behind the bond issue, made serious errors due to transfers out of Miami Trace School District, and there is actually insufficient valuation to justify so large a bond issue.

(8) "That the various actions of the (Board of Education) complained of constitute bad faith or an abuse of discretion on its part sufficient to invalidate said bond proceedings."

northeast after about four minutes.

Dr. Gerard Kuiper, director of the University of Chicago's Yerkes Observatory at Lake Geneva, Wis. observed the satellite for two minutes through binoculars.

His calculations indicate, he said, that the rocket makes a complete end-over-end tumble each four to six minutes.

Kuiper, in his report to the university, said that at its brightest, the satellite, which reflects the sun's light, was of -3 degrees magnitude, in the same order as Venus and Jupiter.

In Cleveland, William Kennedy, a U. S. Weather Bureau forecaster, said he saw the satellite with the naked eye. He said he couldn't tell the shape, but it looked "something like a fat star."

Special Talks

talked down the idea of any cause and effect connection, the speed-up in the Eisenhower speaking program followed a special Cabinet meeting Wednesday and an announcement by Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas of plans for a "searching inquiry" into the whole missiles and satellite programs.

Tonight's address also was timed, at least to some degree on purpose, to coincide with Russia's observance today of the 40th anniversary of the Red revolution.

EISENHOWER'S speech will be carried live by all national radio networks and the CBS television network. It will be carried on film by ABC-TV at 10:30 p. m. and by NBC-TV at 11:15.

Eisenhower announced more than a fortnight ago that he intended to strike out around the country and make a series of speeches to bolster national confidence in America's scientific progress, national defense and his foreign policy.

It was announced that the first address would be made in Oklahoma City Nov. 13. But suddenly the initial speech was rescheduled for Washington tonight. The President still plans to fly to Oklahoma and make one of the series of addresses there.

Ten House Republicans urged Eisenhower Wednesday night to tell the nation exactly where it stands, "regardless of how serious or unpleasant these facts may be."

They said "we cannot overstate the intense feeling expressed to us" by constituents they said are concerned over Russia's achievements in space.

Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass), criticizing "the complacency and the confusion" he said abound in the U. S. programs, also called on Eisenhower to "tell us exactly where we stand today and where we go from here."

MacArthur Given Newest Army Flag

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been presented with the new Army flag.

The flag, adopted last year, was presented to MacArthur Wednesday by Secretary of the Army Brucker. Former President Herbert Hoover was a guest.

In accepting the flag on Governors Island, MacArthur said: "In these, my twilight days, I shall wrap myself in its folds with a reverence and devotion which surpasses all understanding."

The flag has 145 battle streamers commemorating campaigns from Ticonderoga to Korea.

It Is Well That Eisenhower Attend NATO

Most people of this country are glad to learn that President Eisenhower has planned to head a delegation from our nation, which goes to Paris in December to attend a meeting of the 15-member nations of NATO.

It is said that this will be the first time for a meeting of the Atlantic Treaty Organizations when heads of state from each NATO member is to attend.

With the many questions arising as to Russia's future attitude with reference to further world conquest, such a gathering would seem to be of vital importance and significance.

In spite of the great amount of propaganda sent forth from Russia by reason of her alleged psychological victory as to Sputnik, the sensible thinkers in this country and abroad actually recognize that the United States is still ahead in nuclear and atomic advances — even though it trails in the Sputnik field.

The Russians however have won a victory in the Middle East. They are for the first time in history a power in that oil - rich area. They have a firm base in Syria and a foothold in Yemen and Egypt. But the race is not won.

The United States is handicapped more than people know, especially in the South, by racial violence and defiance. That may not seem important to extremists, but it is important to those responsible for the security and survival of the United States.

There remains a great reservoir of faith in the American dream of peaceful progress and freedom. We can't afford to allow extremists to extinguish it. There remains, also, a tremendous faith in the honesty and good will of the President of the United States.

There still is a chance for world peace. We must allow nothing to dissuade us from staying strong and from thinking, acting, and speaking as Americans first, then as Easterners, Midwesterners, Southerners, Northerners, and Westerners. If America survives, so will all her regions. If America fails, so may a greater number of this world's free nations.

Weather Changes Affect Man

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—A change of weather affects mankind. It always does.

One who loves people can develop a feeling toward the impact of weather on persons.

Sometimes it is good, sometimes bad. Sometimes it is hidden.

On me the effect of weather is obvious. The weather is a thing that gives me both an inspiration and a sense of duty. It does to most people.

On a visit to the far Northwest I saw a couple of Douglas fir trees cut down. It was a memorable scene. They made an echo as they fell. As they fell down the hill, they fell across my heart. All those years of living, even in a tree, must stir an echo.

But the individual death of a tree is not a personal thing, something not missed because you presumed its presence. There came a day when you looked toward it for routine comfort and it had gone. The shelter of the common place was no longer there, and the meadow held a mystery.

You look back, and the tree cut down holds the memory of something against the sky. Your eye remembers.

One tree against the forest? How in autumn can a man know his way through the forest except by the trees?

In the colorful wilderness of their falling leaves he feels a kinship knit by their shedding and his eternal human renewal.

There is a feeling of time and timing in this world — on the bough and in the man.

And in the time of falling leaves a man can walk in the wood, admire the scarlet splendor of nature in its final flourish and see the fall of leaves that happy children will rake up with a shout in the age-old game beyond decay.

A man can endure the torment of autumn after autumn—the frigid repetitiveness of winter after winter—in the hope that he can enjoy again the fresh agony of spring, year after year, after year.

What We Don't Know

By George Sokolsky

Often we are told that this is one world because time and space have grown together, sort of, and people can understand each other better because they see each other on television and all that kind of thing.

The fact is that peoples do not understand each other at all. The forms of government, usual in the Western world, have changed so since World War I and their varieties have so increased that it is not surprising that what many take for granted is not true at all.

As a matter of fact, little can be taken for granted at a time when there is discussion about making the House of Lords into a United States Senate with female members.

For instance, a reader from Glens Falls, N. Y., writes:

"The Post-Standard of Oct. 18 tells us that the British prime minister is coming next week to discuss some rather important matters with our President. What I cannot understand is why the P. M. has to come to so discuss when his boss is right here right now, who, it would seem, being the boss, should be able to enlighten the President on all points, on which he needs enlightenment. . . ."

Of course, the Queen is literally not the prime minister's boss. His boss is Parliament. True, the Queen did not appoint the choice of the majority in the House of Commons.

What is more, the Queen would not be authorized to discuss political questions with the President; that would be the function of the prime minister or the secretary of state for foreign affairs. The Queen would not overstep her bounds. Edward VIII held opinions of his own and therefore he now lives the Waldorf Astoria in New York.

Let us turn to an area where errors of this sort can be very costly: that is in our misunderstanding of the Soviet Russian system. Soviet Russia has a president, too. His title is chairman of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet USSR. But he has none of the constitutional authority of the President of the United States. He too is a ceremonial official of no political significance.

There is also a prime minister in Soviet Russia but he has none of the authority of the British prime minister or even the French.

He is at the head of the administration but is one of many as to policy. He is subordinate to the pesidium of the central committee of the communist party of the Soviet Union. But the head of the presidium is its secretary-general or first secretary.

Marshall Bulganin is the prime minister of Soviet Russia but he is subordinate to Nikita Khrushchev. On the other hand, in Yugoslavia, also a Communist country, Tito Broz is president and possesses absolute power.

The system varies in different countries, but in all forms of government, there must be a center of power, a place where authority is clear cut beyond question. In the United States, there is often a confusion due to the nature of our written Constitution which centers authority in the Congress and responsibility in the executive.

The Supreme Court has extended its prerogatives over both branches of government and there have been periods when the President became more powerful than the Congress and vice versa. The system of checks and balances does not always work out absolutely.

Continental Europe has faced the problem of the abolition of the monarchy in many countries since the French Revolution by either a profusion of political parties or by a single dictatorial party.

The really pressing problem in all European countries has been to discover a formula for stability without military dictatorship. The fear of Napoleonism has kept France in political confusion since 1815 and there seems to be no solution in sight.

Soviet Russian political forms tend toward czarism no matter what efforts are made in contrary directions.

"Democratic Centralism," which they call their form of government, must ultimately lead to dictatorship and the struggle, since Stalin's death, has been over whether a triumvirate, an oligarchy or an individual should be the dictatorship. Czarism requires a nautocrat; Russian communism requires a dictator.

Velasquez, the 17th century Spanish portrait painter, also did landscapes, classical and religious works.

You're Telling Me

By WILLIAM RITT

A North Carolina man found $162,000 in bills but, it seems, he was some 90 years too late to be lucky. It's reported all the dough was in Confederate money.

A magazine survey reveals there are 76 Americans worth $75 million or more. And we don't know a single soul who could lend us a sawbuck until next Tuesday!

First the Russian sputnik and now a London, England, department store reports its Santa's already on the job. Gosh, can't the U. S. be first in ANYTHING anymore?

We are all for the suggestion by that University of Iowa psychologist that people would be better if they ate eight or nine meals a day. It's the kind of advice we like— something you can get your teeth into.

Eight or nine meals a day wouldn't work south of the border, however. No time left for siestas!

An English judge has ruled that a dish washer is really a skilled worker. We'd say it depends on how many handles are left on the coffee cups.

A Russian woman medico claims to have developed a quick-cure serum for the Asian flu. It's inhaled like snuff. In other words, she says one now can sneeze one's way back to health.

Try and Stop Me

LAWRENCE LANGNER, absent-minded impressario, boarded a taxi in New York City and announced, "I've only 20 minutes to catch my train. Please get me to Grand Central as quickly as you can." He then opened his evening paper. Fifteen minutes and ten pages later, he looked up for the first time and discovered there was no driver in the cab.

John Charles Daly overheard this choice bit of repartee at the Rye (N.Y.) railroad station: A commuter slapped a 4-year-old boy on the back and inquired heartily, "Well, there, Jocko, what do you know?" The kid answered very seriously, "You know perfectly well I don't know anything!"

Diet and Health — Craving for Tobacco Curbed by Injections

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Have the smoking habit? Want to break it?

If so, you might be interested in the experiments of a Swedish physician, Dr. B. Ejrup, who used injections of lobeline hydrochloride to help patients give up smoking. He reports good results in certain cases. Some 73 per cent of those he treated cut their smoking by 75 per cent or gave it up completely.

Lobeline, a synthetic drug, seems to cut the craving a person has for tobacco. Some of the patients tested reported cigarettes became tasteless, although there was no disagreeable taste in the mouth or other discomfort while smoking during the length of the treatment.

Only three patients of the 133 who took part in the experiments noticed a slight nausea about an hour after the drug was injected.

Now, why do persons want to give up smoking?

Not for the reason you might think. Dr. Ejrup says that fear of lung cancer was not a common incentive for combating the tobacco habit.

Actually, he found that the chief reasons given by his patients were hygiene and the fact that smoking had become expensive for them.

His reports on the tests indicate to me that giving up smoking might not be as difficult as most of you think. For example, Dr. Ejrup used a placebo (an injection which should have had no effect at all) on other patients to check the reaction of those who got the actual drug. Half of those who got the placebo only, and none of the drug, reacted favorably and cut their smoking.

Dr. Ejrup concludes that apparently "suggestion" plays an important part in breaking the tobacco habit.

Let me add emphatically that I think it does, too.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

J.L.M.: I believe I am suffering from diabetes. Can you tell me what a good diet would be?

Answer: The treatment of diabetes is mainly through the diet and injections of insulin when the condition cannot be controlled by diet. The kind of diet in any case depends on the severity of the disease.

Ohio Farm Bureau Lists 2 Problems For Rural Folks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio farmers find high taxes and the cost of government their biggest problems these days, reports the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

The Federation's Policy and Development Committee Wednesday made public a review of 4,601 suggestions received from 567 of 1,534 Farm Bureau advisory councils by the end of October. The review showed that 688 groups are asking their county organizations to take a position on some phase of the tax problem.

The remaining top 10 issues troubling farmers are: Safety, trash dumping, titling of farm machinery, farm income, Eastern Standard Time throughout the state, better telephone service, opposition to reapportionment, mail service, and schools.

Chicken a la king was so called supposedly because it was first prepared for Edward VII of England, according to his personal recipe.

Bearded Gunman Sought by Police

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Ohio and West Virginia law officers pressed their search today for a bearded gunman who reportedly robbed $1,251 in cash and checks from an employe of a Huntington clothing store.

The employe, Carl Cassady, 25-year-old assistant manager, told police he was driving to the bank Wednesday when the gunman popped up in the back seat of the car. Cassady said the robber ordered him to drive over the Ohio River into Ohio.

Cassady said the stranger, a middle-aged man with a beard, took $935 in cash and $316 in checks and let him out near Burlington, Ohio.

Ohio Consolidated Plans Improvement

CADIZ, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. reported today that it plans to spend more than $650,000 in expanding two of its exchanges in Jefferson County.

S. C. McFadden, district commercial manager, said new buildings, cable construction and automatic dial service will be ready in Brilliant and Tiltonville in 14 to 16 months.

Clergyman's Visit To Sick Evaluated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Washington, D. C. chaplain told the third annual Mental Hygiene Institute for Seventh-Day Adventist ministers that a clergyman's visit at the sick bed is much more than a social call.

Chaplain Kenneth S. Crofoot, speaking at the opening of the two-day conference Wednesday said: "The real reason for a pastor to call on an individual who is ill is not because of curiosity, duty or a desire not to offend, but because his training, experience and position places him where he can be a real help in the recovery of the patient."

There still is a chance for world peace. We must allow nothing to dissuade us from staying strong and from thinking, acting, and speaking as Americans first, then as Easterners, Midwesterners, Southerners, Northerners, and Westerners. If America survives, so will all her regions. If America fails, so may a greater number of this world's free nations.

Weather Changes Affect Man

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—A change of weather affects mankind. It always does.

One who loves people can develop a feeling toward the impact of weather on persons.

Sometimes it is good, sometimes bad. Sometimes it is hidden.

On me the effect of weather is obvious. The weather is a thing that gives me both an inspiration and a sense of duty. It does to most people.

On a visit to the far Northwest I saw a couple of Douglas fir trees cut down. It was a memorable scene. They made an echo as they fell. As they fell down the hill, they fell across my heart. All those years of living, even in a tree, must stir an echo.

But the individual death of a tree is not a personal thing, something not missed because you presumed its presence. There came a day when you looked toward it for routine comfort and it had gone. The shelter of the common place was no longer there, and the meadow held a mystery.

You look back, and the tree cut down holds the memory of something against the sky. Your eye remembers.

One tree against the forest? How in autumn can a man know his way through the forest except by the trees?

In the colorful wilderness of their falling leaves he feels a kinship knit by their shedding and his eternal human renewal.

There is a feeling of time and timing in this world — on the bough and in the man.

And in the time of falling leaves a man can walk in the wood, admire the scarlet splendor of nature in its final flourish and see the fall of leaves that happy children will rake up with a shout in the age-old game beyond decay.

A man can endure the torment of autumn after autumn—the frigid repetitiveness of winter after winter—in the hope that he can enjoy again the fresh agony of spring, year after year, after year.

What We Don't Know

By George Sokolsky

Often we are told that this is one world because time and space have grown together, sort of, and people can understand each other better because they see each other on television and all that kind of thing.

The fact is that peoples do not understand each other at all. The forms of government, usual in the Western world, have changed so since World War I and their varieties have so increased that it is not surprising that what many take for granted is not true at all.

As a matter of fact, little can be taken for granted at a time when there is discussion about making the House of Lords into a United States Senate with female members.

For instance, a reader from Glens Falls, N. Y., writes:

"The Post-Standard of Oct. 18 tells us that the British prime minister is coming next week to discuss some rather important matters with our President. What I cannot understand is why the P. M. has to come to so discuss when his boss is right here right now, who, it would seem, being the boss, should be able to enlighten the President on all points, on which he needs enlightenment. . ."

Of course, the Queen is literally not the prime minister's boss. His boss is Parliament. True, the Queen did not appoint the choice of the majority in the House of Commons.

What is more, the Queen would not be authorized to discuss political questions with the President; that would be the function of the prime minister or the secretary of state for foreign affairs. The Queen would not overstep her bounds. Edward VIII held opinions of his own and therefore he now lives the Waldorf Astoria in New York.

Let us turn to an area where errors of this sort can be very costly: that is in our misunderstanding of the Soviet Russian system. Soviet Russia has a president, too. His title is chairman of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet USSR. But he has none of the constitutional authority of the President of the United States. He too is a ceremonial official of no political significance.

There is also a prime minister in Soviet Russia but he has none of the authority of the British prime minister or even the French.

He is at the head of the administration but is one of many as to policy. He is subordinate to the pesidium of the central committee of the communist party of the Soviet Union. But the head of the presidium is its secretary-general or first secretary.

Marshall Bulganin is the prime minister of Soviet Russia but he is subordinate to Nikita Khrushchev. On the other hand, in Yugoslavia, also a Communist country, Tito Broz is president and possesses absolute power.

The system varies in different countries, but in all forms of government, there must be a center of power, a place where authority is clear cut beyond question. In the United States, there is often a confusion due to the nature of our written Constitution which centers authority in the Congress and responsibility in the executive.

The Supreme Court has extended its prerogatives over both branches of government and there have been periods when the President became more powerful than the Congress and vice versa. The system of checks and balances does not always work out absolutely.

Continental Europe has faced the problem of the abolition of the monarchy in many countries since the French Revolution by either a profusion of political parties or by a single dictatorial party.

The really pressing problem in all European countries has been to discover a formula for stability without military dictatorship. The fear of Napoleonism has kept France in political confusion since 1815 and there seems to be no solution in sight.

Soviet Russian political forms tend toward czarism no matter what efforts are made in contrary directions.

"Democratic Centralism," which they call their form of government, must ultimately lead to dictatorship and the struggle, since Stalin's death, has been over whether a triumvirate, an oligarchy or an individual should be the dictatorship. Czarism requires a nautocrat; Russian communism requires a dictator.

Velasquez, the 17th century Spanish portrait painter, also did landscapes, classical and religious works.

You're Telling Me

A North Carolina man found $162,000 in bills but, it seems, he was some 90 years too late to be lucky. It's reported all the dough was in Confederate money.

A magazine survey reveals there are 76 Americans worth $75 million or more. And we don't know a single soul who could lend us a sawbuck until next Tuesday!

First the Russian sputnik and now a London, England, department store reports its Santa's already on the job. Gosh, can't the U. S. be first in ANYTHING anymore?

We are all for the suggestion by that University of Iowa psychologist that people would be better if they ate eight or nine meals a day. It's the kind of advice we like— something you can get your teeth into.

Eight or nine meals a day wouldn't work south of the border, however. No time left for siestas!

An English judge has ruled that a dish washer is really a skilled worker. We'd say it depends on how many handles are left on the coffee cups.

LAWRENCE LANGNER, absent-minded impressario, boarded a taxi in New York City and announced, "I've only 20 minutes to catch my train. Please get me to Grand Central as quickly as you can." He then opened his evening paper. Fifteen minutes and ten pages later, he looked up for the first time and discovered there was no driver in the cab.

John Charles Daly overheard this choice bit of repartee at the Rye (N.Y.) railroad station: A commuter slapped a 4-year-old boy on the back and inquired heartily, "Well, there, Jocko, what do you know?" The kid answered very seriously, "You know perfectly well I don't know anything!"

Diet and Health — Craving for Tobacco Curbed by Injections

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Have the smoking habit? Want to break it?

If so, you might be interested in the experiments of a Swedish physician, Dr. B. Ejrup, who used injections of lobeline hydrochloride to help patients give up smoking. He reports good results in certain cases. Some 73 per cent of those he treated cut their smoking by 75 per cent or gave it up completely.

Lobeline, a synthetic drug, seems to cut the craving a person has for tobacco. Some of the patients tested reported cigarettes became tasteless, although there was no disagreeable taste in the mouth or other discomfort while smoking during the length of the treatment.

Only three patients of the 133 who took part in the experiments noticed a slight nausea about an hour after the drug was injected.

Now, why do persons want to give up smoking?

Not for the reason you might think. Dr. Ejrup says that fear of lung cancer was not a common incentive for combating the tobacco habit.

Actually, he found that the chief reasons given by his patients were hygiene and the fact that smoking had become expensive for them.

His reports on the tests indicate to me that giving up smoking might not be as difficult as most of you think. For example, Dr. Ejrup used a placebo (an injection which should have had no effect at all) on other patients to check the reaction of those who got the actual drug. Half of those who got the placebo only, and none of the drug, reacted favorably and cut their smoking.

Dr. Ejrup concludes that apparently "suggestion" plays an important part in breaking the tobacco habit.

Let me add emphatically that I think it does, too.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

J.L.M.: I believe I am suffering from diabetes. Can you tell me what a good diet would be?

Answer: The treatment of diabetes is mainly through the diet and injections of insulin when the condition cannot be controlled by diet. The kind of diet in any case depends on the severity of the disease.

Ohio Farm Bureau Lists 2 Problems For Rural Folks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio farmers find high taxes and the cost of government their biggest problems these days, reports the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

The Federation's Policy and Development Committee Wednesday made public a review of 4,601 suggestions received from 567 of 1,534 Farm Bureau advisory councils by the end of October. The review showed that 688 groups are asking their county organizations to take a position on some phase of the tax problem.

The remaining top 10 issues troubling farmers are: Safety, trash dumping, titling of farm machinery, farm income, Eastern Standard Time throughout the state, better telephone service, opposition to reapportionment, mail service, and schools.

Chicken a la king was so called supposedly because it was first prepared for Edward VII of England, according to his personal recipe.

Bearded Gunman Sought by Police

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Ohio and West Virginia law officers pressed their search today for a bearded gunman who reportedly robbed $1,251 in cash and checks from an employe of a Huntington clothing store.

The employe, Carl Cassady, 25-year-old assistant manager, told police he was driving to the bank Wednesday when the gunman popped up in the back seat of the car. Cassady said the robber ordered him to drive over the Ohio River into Ohio.

Cassady said the stranger, a middle-aged man with a beard, took $935 in cash and $316 in checks and let him out near Burlington, Ohio.

Ohio Consolidated Plans Improvement

CADIZ, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. reported today that it plans to spend more than $650,000 in expanding two of its exchanges in Jefferson County.

S. C. McFadden, district commercial manager, said new buildings, cable construction and automatic dial service will be ready in Brilliant and Tiltonville in 14 to 16 months.

Clergyman's Visit To Sick Evaluated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Washington, D. C. chaplain told the third annual Mental Hygiene Institute for Seventh-Day Adventist ministers that a clergyman's visit at the sick bed is much more than a social call.

Chaplain Kenneth S. Crofoot, speaking at the opening of the two-day conference Wednesday said: "The real reason for a pastor to call on an individual who is ill is not because of curiosity, duty or a desire not to offend, but because his training, experience and position places him where he can be a real help in the recovery of the patient."

Women's Society Of Grace Church Enjoys Luncheon

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Grace Methodist Church met in Fellowship Hall Wednesday for the regular Church Day meeting.

The luncheon at noon was served by members of the Braun Circle of which Mrs. W. H. Bruan, is leader. The tables were decorated with arrangements of fall flowers, one table being reserved for those with birthdays, and this was centered with a birthday cake.

Mrs. John Weade, president, conducted the business session, opening with a reading entitled "Give Thanks," and a poem, "Thanksgiving Hymn."

Mrs. Earl Grimm reported on the WSCS meeting held in Greenfield and Mrs. C. D. Lewellen gave the highlights of the meeting at Cedarville. Mrs. Lewellen told of some of the experiences of Miss Martha Graff, a missionary from Sarawak.

Mrs. Grimm requested that prayers be offered for United Nations, especially on Veteran's Day, Nov. 11. Mrs. Ellis Bishop suggested gifts be sent to Veterans' Hospital, Chillicothe.

The program opened with the group singing "Come Ye Thankful People, Come." Mrs. Grimm, program chairman, presented Mrs. Billie Wilson and Mrs. John Rhoads, who conducted the Quadrennial Goals Dedication Service before a worship table. The table was covered with a white cloth upon which rested the cross, seven lighted golden candles and the open Bible. Behind the table was a large plaque on which were the words of the theme "The Spirit of Christ for All of Life," and seven lighted stars. All of these symbols represented the seven Quadrennial Goals. The dedication closed with prayer.

Mrs. Grimm introduced Mrs. A. D. Woodmansee, local secretary of student work, who spoke on her work with the students from this community and on the program of student work set up by the Methodist Church. She pointed out that the foundation in religion must be laid in childhood before much can be accomplished in higher education; that too many students go into college unprepared for the problems they have to face. "The Wesley Foundation is the Methodist Church at work in our colleges," she said.

The meeting closed with the group singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Pardon this intrusion; but I wish to offer a word of guidance to the minister's wife, who asks whether to resume nurse's training (to prepare for the missionary field), when it would mean leaving her three small children in other hands for a year or more.

Her three children are dear to God, too. And they are her God-given responsibility. So don't rob them of a minute's real mother-care.

To her I say: Don't shirk your duty at home, to serve other people abroad. God didn't give you first-hand responsibility for those others. If something should happen to your children while you were away in nurse's training you would have painful regrets for the balance of your life.

To acquaint yourself with God's ordinances that apply to family obligations, look up the key words: mother, father, child and children, in a Concordance. Then turn to the indicated passages in the Bible.

I am a grandmother, a former church worker, Sunday school teacher, pastor's assistant, etc., and I have learned in a long life to see God's will in the circumstances He assigns us. There is plenty of missionary work to do right here, as the population rises and refugees flock in.

S. F.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have read with interest your advice to the clergyman's wife who is torn between her love for her three young children and her inner urge to complete her nurse's education and thereby help her husband qualify for service in the foreign missionary field.

May I contribute my opinion in the matter? I feel that nothing should be of greater importance to this couple than the prudent nurture of these children who will one day follow in their footsteps in the world. May I ask: Of what value is their aspiration to be missionaries in far off countries if, in fulfilling this dream, they have overlooked their own children's earliest and deepest needs of parental love and companionship?

I would say that the proposition of bypassing a mother's responsibilities to the grandmother, while mother gets educated, is a poor way to prepare for the mission field, where a missionary's best equipment is character, and the wisdom to put first things first. Missionaries teach by example, by imparting what they are; and, sadly enough, one can't give what one hasn't got.

E. Z.

DEAR CORRESPONDENTS: On behalf of Mrs. K.Y., my thanks for these contributions. They may not dissuade her from going ahead with nurse's training; but at least they should give her food for thought, in deciding yes or no.

Sometimes a strong negative challenge firms up a decision that might have faltered, if opposition hadn't forced the person to think things through, and find the dynamic answer in his own heart.

Speaking of where her duty lies, we should remember that the Bible makes clear that a true vocational call to God's service oftimes requires disciples to put God's work first and beloved family claims second, if a (seeming) choice must be made. In which case, if the call is from God, He may be relied upon to take care of the whole picture—by all-sufficient means at His disposal.

So let's not be rigorously sentimental in terms of giving motherhood exclusive priority rating, in a woman's scheme of things—when she sincerely feels a responsibility to implement her husbands professional aims; and to educate herself to share his life (for his sake) outside the home. In essence, this seems to be Mrs. K.Y.'s purpose.

It's Real Hard To Prove You Are a Hero Today

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A Lincoln woman awoke from a nap to find her boxer puppy running around the house with a flaming rug in its mouth.

Mrs. J. R. Ashleman said she had put the rug on the kitchen stove to dry.

Mrs. Ashleman wasn't sure whether the dog was trying to be a hero or an arsonist.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Grace Methodist Church met in Fellowship Hall Wednesday for the regular Church Day meeting.

The luncheon at noon was served by members of the Braun Circle of which Mrs. W. H. Bruan, is leader. The tables were decorated with arrangements of fall flowers, one table being reserved for those with birthdays, and this was centered with a birthday cake.

Mrs. John Weade, president, conducted the business session, opening with a reading entitled "Give Thanks," and a poem, "Thanksgiving Hymn."

Mrs. Earl Grimm reported on the WSCS meeting held in Greenfield and Mrs. C. D. Lewellen gave the highlights of the meeting at Cedarville. Mrs. Lewellen told of some of the experiences of Miss Martha Graff, a missionary from Sarawak.

Mrs. Grimm requested that prayers be offered for United Nations, especially on Veteran's Day, Nov. 11. Mrs. Ellis Bishop suggested gifts be sent to Veterans' Hospital, Chillicothe.

The program opened with the group singing "Come Ye Thankful People, Come." Mrs. Grimm, program chairman, presented Mrs. Billie Wilson and Mrs. John Rhoads, who conducted the Quadrennial Goals Dedication Service before a worship table. The table was covered with a white cloth upon which rested the cross, seven lighted golden candles and the open Bible. Behind the table was a large plaque on which were the words of the theme "The Spirit of Christ for All of Life," and seven lighted stars. All of these symbols represented the seven Quadrennial Goals. The dedication closed with prayer.

Mrs. Grimm introduced Mrs. A. D. Woodmansee, local secretary of student work, who spoke on her work with the students from this community and on the program of student work set up by the Methodist Church. She pointed out that the foundation in religion must be laid in childhood before much can be accomplished in higher education; that too many students go into college unprepared for the problems they have to face. "The Wesley Foundation is the Methodist Church at work in our colleges," she said.

The meeting closed with the group singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Conservation Meeting Held by Garden Club

The Washington Garden Club's open conservation meeting was held at the Farm Bureau auditorium Tuesday night.

Highlighting the evening was the showing of a film entitled "Under Ohio Skies." This film concerned wildlife in Ohio and was shown by David Krupla, Fayette County game protector.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Orville Hurtt, president.

The guests attending were from Cub Pack 345, Staunton; Scout Troop 112, sponsored by the American Legion; Marilee Garden Club; Buckeye Garden Club and Town and Country Garden Club.

Refreshments were served by members of the Washington Garden Club, hostesses for the evening.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Callender, 415 Rose Ave., Nov. 13 at 8 p. m.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Pardon this intrusion; but I wish to offer a word of guidance to the minister's wife, who asks whether to resume nurse's training (to prepare for the missionary field), when it would mean leaving her three small children in other hands for a year or more.

Her three children are dear to God, too. And they are her God-given responsibility. So don't rob them of a minute's real mother-care.

To her I say: Don't shirk your duty at home, to serve other people abroad. God didn't give you first-hand responsibility for those others. If something should happen to your children while you were away in nurse's training you would have painful regrets for the balance of your life.

To acquaint yourself with God's ordinances that apply to family obligations, look up the key words: mother, father, child and children, in a Concordance. Then turn to the indicated passages in the Bible.

I am a grandmother, a former church worker, Sunday school teacher, pastor's assistant, etc., and I have learned in a long life to see God's will in the circumstances He assigns us. There is plenty of missionary work to do right here, as the population rises and refugees flock in.

S. F.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have read with interest your advice to the clergyman's wife who is torn between her love for her three young children and her inner urge to complete her nurse's education and thereby help her husband qualify for service in the foreign missionary field.

May I contribute my opinion in the matter? I feel that nothing should be of greater importance to this couple than the prudent nurture of these children who will one day follow in their footsteps in the world. May I ask: Of what value is their aspiration to be missionaries in far off countries if, in fulfilling this dream. they have overlooked their own children's earliest and deepest needs of parental love and companionship?

I would say that the proposition of bypassing a mother's responsibilities to the grandmother, while mother gets educated, is a poor way to prepare for the mission field, where a missionary's best equipment is character, and the wisdom to put first things first. Missionaries teach by example, by imparting what they are; and, sadly enough, one can't give what one hasn't got.

E. Z.

DEAR CORRESPONDENTS: On behalf of Mrs. K.Y., my thanks for these contributions. They may not dissuade her from going ahead with nurse's training; but at least they should give her food for thought, in deciding yes or no.

Sometimes a strong negative challenge firms up a decision that might have faltered, if opposition hadn't forced the person to think things through, and find the dynamic answer in his own heart.

Speaking of where her duty lies, we should remember that the Bible makes clear that a true vocational call to God's service oftimes requires disciples to put God's work first and beloved family claims second, if a (seeming) choice must be made. In which case, if the call is from God, He may be relied upon to take care of the whole picture—by all-sufficient means at His disposal.

So let's not be rigorously sentimental in terms of giving motherhood exclusive priority rating, in a woman's scheme of things—when she sincerely feels a responsibility to implement her husbands professional aims; and to educate herself to share his life (for his sake) outside the home. In essence, this seems to be Mrs. K.Y.'s purpose.

It's Real Hard To Prove You Are a Hero Today

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A Lincoln woman awoke from a nap to find her boxer puppy running around the house with a flaming rug in its mouth.

Mrs. J. R. Ashleman said she had put the rug on the kitchen stove to dry.

She vainly tried to catch the dog, then telephoned the fire department. Service was fast because a fire truck happened to be right across the street on an inspection mission. Rug and floor were damaged by the flames.

Mrs. Ashleman wasn't sure whether the dog was trying to be a hero or an arsonist.

Governor To Lead 3-Day Ceremony at Wilmington

WILMINGTON. . . Led by Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill, a parade of luminaries will be on the Wilmington College campus during the weekend of Nov. 29, 30 and Dec. 1, to take part in the three-day dedication ceremonies of three new facilities on the Quaker college campus.

The three new buildings, worth an estimated million dollars included a new two-story student center, a four-story dormitory for 200 men and an all-steel maintenance building.

The three-day program will begin at 1 p. m., Friday, Nov. 29, when Ohio's leading industrialists will be entertained at a luncheon in the dining room of the new student center.

Following the luncheon, the visitors will hear an address by Dr. Charles F. Kettering, world renowned inventor and scientist. It was through the generous support of Dr. Kettering that the new four-story dormitory and Friends Hall, a dormitory for 100 women dedicated in 1955, were made possible to the institution of higher learning.

Friday evening, members of the Wilmington Yearly Meeting of the Society of Friends (Quakers) will be invited to attend an open house in the buildings and a program, to be held in Boyd Auditorium, at which Harold Fey, editor of the Christian Century, will speak. Invitations for this event will be sent to individual members of the Yearly Meeting.

ALUMNI of the college will be entertained on Saturday, Nov. 30, and will be invited to attend an open house of the buildings, an academic convocation at which Gov. O'Neil and Benjamin Fine, education editor of the New York Times, will appear. A reception will follow the convocation in the student center.

On Sunday, Dec. 1, the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Thor Johnson, will perform twice in Boyd Auditorium on the campus, the first program at 4 p. m., the second at 8:15 p. m.

Sunday afternoon, the current student body of the college and their parents will be honored and invited to attend an open house and the afternoon performance of the orchestra. Sunday evening, friends of the college in the local Wilmington community will be entertained and will attend the evening program of the orchestra.

THE NEW student center building and the dormitory for men are both of "lift slab" construction. The 40 by 200 foot maintenance building is of Armco Steelox.

The student center includes a recreation room, a lounge, a snack bar, the student mail boxes, a book store, rest rooms, and two meeting rooms on the first floor, and a dining room seating 400 plus two private dining rooms seating 20 each and a large kitchen on the second floor.

The second floor of the center is air-conditioned.

After 48 Years, Town Gets Different Mayor

BEREA, Ky. (AP) — C. C. Hensley, 48, will become Berea's second mayor Jan. 1, when 92-year-old John L. Gay steps down after 48 years.

Gay declined to seek reelection, saying he had held the office "about long enough."

Hensley lost to Gay in the mayor's race four years ago but Tuesday beat Marshall E. Vaughn, 482 votes to 237. He served as a member of the city council six years.

Space Junket Very Restful

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio says nothing could be more restful than a junket through space.

Tests have shown that human beings isolated from the pull of gravity become accustomed to weightlessness, a broadcast to North America said.

It added that this "provides the best form of rest for human beings."

Moscow radio said 16 persons took part in a series of experiments under simulated space flight conditions.

Five at first had "illusory sensations," the broadcast said. But after frequent repetitions, the "Human organism becomes accustomed to it."

As far as Moscow radio is concerned, you can take your choice on how long it might take a Soviet rocket to reach the moon.

Scientist T. Khachaturov, writing in the Transport Ministry's newspaper Gudok, said a rocket ship from the earth to the moon could be made in about 10 hours.

Prof. Y. V. Dobranravov, writing in Soviet Aviation, said a trip to the moon would require not more than five days.

Moscow radio also reported that the Soviet Ministry of Communications has marked the launching of Sputnik I with a special 10-cent postage stamp.

Alberta is estimated to have more than 80 per cent of the total coal reserves in Canada.

ATLANTA, Ga.—Last year, a parakeet in this southern metropolis filed an income tax report to the tune of $22. on a gross income of $780.

A Chicago bird is listed in the telephone book, and has his own private line. Chicageo also boasts a school for parakeets, and New York City has a hotel for the little clowns from Australia.

Parakeets now have "jobs" in cancer research, and also in mental therapy. They are used in interior decorating, on television, on radio, and in night clubs.

This country, it seems, has gone wholly to parakeets! Poor old Polly Parrot, and little Miss Canary simply don't have it any more!

Parkeets as household pets in America have edged out all other pets. There now are 14 million—one in every fifth home, including the White House.

According to the latest pet census, the parakeet population has increased 1,000 per cent in the past five years—and still is going strong.

WHAT'S the fascination? First, the bird is a natural clown. Second, its ability to minimic the human voice is nothing short of uncanny.

Apparently there is no end to what a parakeet can say. A bird in Miami Beach has a fabulous vocabulary of 400 words. which includes both English and Yiddish phrases.

Complicated chemical formulas and a condensed version of Einstein's theory of relativity are included in the repertoire of a bird owned by a Dayton, O., family.

A parakeet owner in San Francisco claims his pet has a 500-word vocabulary, including the Lord's Prayer, the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, and several nursery rhymes.

One midwest bird owner suggests that if you get a parakeet, and eventually tire of it, simply teach it to say, "Here, Kitty, Kitty!" and your troubles are over.

ACTUALLY it is quite simple to teach a parakeet to talk. Patience and repetition are the keys to success. Women have a slight advantage as teachers, because their voices have a higher pitch, producing clearer, more definite sounds for the parakeet to imitate.

Many trainers are convinced they get better results with male birds, but there are so many talking females that experts consider the sex preference a matter of prejudice rather than fact.

Training can begin when the birds are six weeks old. But parakeets have been known to talk even though their eduction was neglected until they were three years old.

Parakeets are vain little things that like to be the center of attraction. They are ideal for bedridden or shut-in patients.

A parakeet will develop many tricks of his own, merely from being given a few simple toys. And he is a most inquisitive bird.

One housewife, for example, barely rescued her parakeet from the Christmas turkey before popping it in the oven. Her pet had crawled into the partially stuffed cavity of the turkey while her back was turned, and only his muffled shrieks saved him at the last moment.

ANOTHER WOMAN was startled to see the head of her parakeet suddenly poke out of the cake batter she was mixing. Apparently the little bird had landed on the mixing bowl to see what was going on, and had tumbled in.

Parakeets first were introduced in Europe more than a century ago, when the noted ornithologist, John Gould, brought back a pair of the little birds after a visit to their original home in the grasslands of Australia.

Soon English sailors were bringing the talkative little green birds back home, instead of their traditional parrots.

Apparently their popularity with the English Navy never has lessened. An inspection aboard the British aircraft carrier, Centaur, recently disclosed to startled officers that the ship carried 10 times as many parakeets as planes—a total of 475 birds!

For some reason. the parakeet never became popular in the United States until five years ago.

Helium, Once Seen as U. S. Secret Weapon, May Soon Be Dissipated, Scientists Fear

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON
Central Press Assn.

MADISON, Wis. — Failure of the United States to recover valuable helium gas from natural gas being burnt on a huge scale for household and industrial purposes may cause that element in the free state to disappear from the earth, warned scientists attending an international conference on low temperature physics and chemistry here at the University of Wisconsin.

The colorful history of helium started when it was discovered in 1868, not on the earth, but on the sun. A French astronomer, J. Jannsen, viewing an eclipse with the first spectroscope, noted a brilliant yellow line around the sun. That was helium.

The lightest gas known except for highly inflammable hydrogen, helium has been found on the earth mainly in natural gas wells in the United States alone. It is an unsolved scientific mystery why this country should be so uniquely and exclusively blessed with it on this planet.

The scientists point out that helium was "a sensation somewhat like the atom bomb" after the Germans in World War I demonstrated the potency of the huge lighter-than-air Zeppelins in carrying out history's first aerial bombings.

A NEAR PANIC swept Allied scientists when one of the cigar-shaped craft failed to burst into flames when hit directly by incendiary bullets. Kaiser Wilhelm's technologists had managed to isolate enough helium to fill an airship, but owing to a freak of nature the United States still held virtually a monopoly.

If the Hindenburg, the first commercially successful transoceanic airliner, has been filled with helium instead of explosive hydrogen, it never would have burst into eerie flames on May 6, 1937, over Lakehurst, N. J., in one of aviation's worst disasters.

However, the U. S. guarded its helium then as it has tried to guard its atomic secrets after World War II, and would export none to Germany for fear of helping Adolf Hitler's military buildup.

As a result of this and the spectacular holocaust of its sister ship, the Hindenburg, Germany never flew its huge Graf Zeppelin commercially.

BACK IN 1923, the U. S. Navy launched the first great helium-filled airship, the Shenandoah. Two years later a line squall over Ohio ripped her into three pieces, but helium had proved its worth, because no billowing flames (such as those which would engulf the ill-fated Hindenburg) seared the stricken dirigible, and her crew floated one section safely to earth.

However, by the 1930s, the days of the dirigibles were numbered as one great prototype after another met disaster, including even the U. S.'s helium-filled airships. When the Navy's last such craft, the Macon, sprang a gas leak on Feb. 12, 1935, and sank into the sea off the California coast, the once-promising era of the great balloons was over.

THE BIG AIRSHIPS enjoyed a brief recrudescence in World War II when two balloon squadrons of the U. S. Navy distinguished themselves searching for Nazi submarines, but with jet planes and helicopters filling the air these days nobody expects balloons and the once great "secret weapon" of helium to regain prominence in that fashion.

That is what worries Dr. F. G. Brickwedde of Pennsylvania State university and his committee to save helium. He points out that the U. S. is the only nation outside the Iron Curtain where any sizeable quantities of natural gas containing helium have been found.

Liquified helium is more important now in laboratories doing low temperature research down to 455 degrees below zero than it ever was in its brief but more spectacular role as a huge gas bag inflatant.

Because it is less dramatic and apparent, people seem about to forget about the gas that revealed itself in a golden ring around the sun and now could become figuratively "a pot of gold at the end of a scientific rainbow" — if it is not thoughtlessly dissipated in stove and furnace burners.

White House Sees '58 Fight for GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has interpreted Tuesday's election results as demonstrating the GOP and its candidates "have a fight on their hands" in 1958.

It found "real gratification," however, in Republican victories in two special elections for House seats in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Anne Wheaton, associate White House press secretary, had a prepared statement ready when reporters asked for reaction to the balloting Tuesday, in which Democrats ran up big victories in the New Jersey and Virginia gubernatorial races and for mayor of New York. The GOP aspirants in New Jersey and Virginia ran with special White House blessings.

Roz Russell To Quit Play

2 Years with Show Said To Be Enough

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the great marriages of American entertainment—Rosalind Russell and an auntie named Mame—could go on forever. But Roz is holding it down to two years.

"Auntie Mame" has been a top ticket on Broadway ever since it opened a year ago. Miss Russell is bowing out of the New York run in just 11 weeks though she could remain as long as she wanted.

Her reasoning: "It's a tremendously exhausting show. By the time we finish the movie next June, it will be almost two years that I have been working with Mame. In August of 1956 we first started working with the script.

"It has been a wonderful experience, but good heavens—how long can you continue playing one character?"

As long as she wants, say the ticket agents. But Roz has other ideas. She has never been one for standing still. She played an endless procession of professional women in films.

She broke out to come back to Broadway in a musical, "Wonderful Town." Her latest film, "Picnic," portrayed her as a love-starved, man-roping schoolteacher.

On St. Patrick's Day next year, she'll begin the film version of "Mame" for Warner Brothers. Then she and husband Fred Brisson will head for a lengthy vacation to Europe.

There Were Lady Marines Way Back in World War I

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Marine Corps was the last of the services to take in women during World War II, but their service in the corps actually began back in World War I when a few hundred enlisted women reserves filled clerical billets.

The Lady Leathernecks now are not only regulars in the corps but the only women in the armed forces to have a separate unit in the organized reserve. The first women's organized reserve platoon was formed in April, 1949. Today there are some 32 officers and 659 enlisted women Marines in the organized reserve.

The regulars on duty currently number about 1,800 enlisted women and 121 officers. They are serving at posts in the United States, Hawaii and Europe. Officers hold jobs as administrators, teachers, and publicists, as supply, finance and communications officers and in other specialized posts. Enlisted women may serve in any of 26 occupational fields, 87 specialties in all.

The Marine Corps Women's Reserve, established in February, 1943, boasted 18,838 members by May, 1945. Congress authorized their permanent status as regulars in 1948.

Most of the women were demobilized at the end of World War II, but a trained nucleus was retained. It proved itself ready for rapid mobilization at the outbreak of fighting in Korea in 1950.

First director of the Women Marines was Col. Ruth Cheney Streeter, wife of a retired Morristown, N. J., banker and mother of four children. She was awarded the Legion of Merit in 1946.

Col. Julia E. Hamblet became its third director in May, 1953, succeeding Col. Katherine A. Towle. Born in Winchester, Mass., May 12, 1916, Col. Hamblet is the youngest director of women in the armed services.

A graduate of Vassar College and Ohio State University, she served with the U. S. Information Services from 1937 until 1943, when she entered the corps. During the war she commanded the Aviation Women's Reserve Group 1 at the Cherry Point, N. C., Marine Corps Air Station. She was awarded a Letter of Commendation.

Roz Russell To Quit Play

2 Years with Show Said To Be Enough

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the great marriages of American entertainment—Rosalind Russell and an auntie named Mame—could go on forever. But Roz is holding it down to two years.

"Auntie Mame" has been a top ticket on Broadway ever since it opened a year ago. Miss Russell is bowing out of the New York run in just 11 weeks though she could remain as long as she wanted.

Her reasoning: "It's a tremendously exhausting show. By the time we finish the movie next June, it will be almost two years that I have been working with Mame. In August of 1956 we first started working with the script.

"It has been a wonderful experience, but good heavens—how long can you continue playing one character?"

As long as she wants, say the ticket agents. But Roz has other ideas. She has never been one for standing still. She played an endless procession of professional women in films.

She broke out to come back to Broadway in a musical, "Wonderful Town." Her latest film, "Picnic," portrayed her as a love-starved, man-roping school teacher.

On St. Patrick's Day next year, she'll begin the film version of "Mame" for Warner Brothers. Then she and husband Fred Brisson will head for a lengthy vacation to Europe.

There Were Lady Marines Way Back in World War I

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Marine Corps was the last of the services to take in women during World War II, but their service in the corps actually began back in World War I when a few hundred enlisted women reserves filled clerical billets.

The Lady Leathernecks now are not only regulars in the corps but the only women in the armed forces to have a separate unit in the organized reserve. The first women's organized reserve platoon was formed in April, 1949. Today there are some 32 officers and 659 enlisted women Marines in the organized reserve.

The regulars on duty currently number about 1,800 enlisted women and 121 officers. They are serving at posts in the United States, Hawaii and Europe. Officers hold jobs as administrators, teachers, and publicists, as supply, finance and communications officers and in other specialized posts. Enlisted women may serve in any of 26 occupational fields, 87 specialties in all.

The Marine Corps Women's Reserve, established in February, 1943, boasted 18,838 members by May, 1945. Congress authorized their permanent status as regulars in 1948.

Most of the women were demobilized at the end of World War II, but a trained nucleus was retained. It proved itself ready for rapid mobilization at the outbreak of fighting in Korea in 1950.

First director of the Women Marines was Col. Ruth Cheney Streeter, wife of a retired Morristown, N. J., banker and mother of four children. She was awarded the Legion of Merit in 1946.

Col. Julia E. Hamblet became its third director in May, 1953, succeeding Col. Katherine A. Towle. Born in Winchester, Mass., May 12, 1916, Col. Hamblet is the youngest director of women in the armed services.

A graduate of Vassar College and Ohio State University, she served with the U. S. Information Services from 1937 until 1943, when she entered the corps. During the war she commanded the Aviation Women's Reserve Group 1 at the Cherry Point, N. C., Marine Corps Air Station. She was awarded a Letter of Commendation.

Miss Belle Webb, Circle Ave. has a cat that loves to sleep on an "upper berth" where it is necessary to climb a ladder each time (like getting into an upper berth on a Pullman).

"Taggie" is the name of the cat which has a liking for literally getting up in the air to sleep.

The spot chosen by "Taggie" to do her sleeping is nothing more or less than on top of an 8-foot stepladder, and there she snoozes hour after hour, occasionally turning about on the cramped quarters she has chosen for her bed.

However "Taggie's" high point for sleeping is not without its drawbacks, as she has discovered, for occasionally she slips from her eight-foot perch and tumbles to the floor.

However not one bit discouraged or disconcerted, she immediately climbs back to her lofty bunk and promptly goes back to sleep.

For a long time now "Taggie" has been occupying her top berth and apparently prefers it to sleeping on the floor, where her feet and tail might be stepped upon, so her seeking higher altitude for sleep really makes sense—or does it?

ANY NAVAL RELICS HERE?

Naval Recruiter Chief Philip G. Lee, for this district, has been asked to obtain a list of all naval historical relics in this community, and asks anyone having such material to contact him at the American Legion Hall here.

Or you can notify me at the Record Herald Office.

Personally I know of no such relics in the county, but there may be several.

The notice given Chief Lee and all other recruiters, reads:

"Periodically the curator from the Navy Department compiles a list of items of historical interest in the Shore Establishment.

"Since the latest such inventory was taken prior to World Wear II, and since many naval relics melted down in the all-out war effort were not reported, CONFOUR has requested the main station to determine the current status of the Navy's historical material in the Columbus recruiting district, recruiters will advise the main station, not later than Nov. 15, of any naval historical relics in their territory".

OLD BUGGY SHOP

On Nov. 12, 1907, Edward A. Hutson, native of Fayette County, opened a buggy shop in the room now occupied by Lawrence W. Burris, optometrist. He had been a traveling salesman for the Seidel Buggy Co., of Richmond, Ind., for several years.

Ed was a good salesman, and sold a lot of buggies in this community. I used to drop into his store for a visit with him, inasmuch as we grew up in the same neighborhood in Paint Township, and attended the same school when we were kids

Ed operated the store successfully for many years until automobiles started making inroads into the buggy and carriage business, when he closed out his business and took up other work.

He usually had three to five buggies on the floor in the room for display purposes, and he also carried a line of robes, blankets, harness and other equipment for horses.

ONE K. OF P. LODGE

For years Sunflower Lodge No. 341 of Jeffersonville has been the only surviving Knights of Pythias Lodge in Fayette County, out of 8 or 10 which were formerly in operation.

Sunflower Lodge received its charter Feb. 19, 1892, and while the present membership is far down the line to what it used to be, the organization is still functioning and plans call for increasing the membership in the lodge.

Forty-eight years ago the roster of Sunflower Lodge included the following members, most of whom passed away many years ago.

W. C. Armstrong, Jos. B. Armstrong, Fred Allen, Ralph Allen, S. M. Allen, J. H. Bowman, C. R. Bush, C. D. Bush, Glenn Brock, J. C. Brown, Bryce Bell, W. L. Boyer, J. G. Boyer, H. F. Beatty, H. L. In copying the above list I was amazed to find I knew nearly all of these men personally, and had met them more than once while attending lodge at Jeffersonville and elsewhere.

British Turbo-Prop Test Plane Kills 15

BRISTOL, England (AP)—A turbo-prop Britannia airliner, pride of Britain's commercial aviation, crashed in flames yesterday on a test flight killing all 15 aboard.

The big four-engine plane took off from the Bristol Aviation Co. field and plummeted into a belt of woods near the plant.

The plane, the first prototype of the "Mark 300" Britannia series, carried crewmen and technicians. It had been used for tests since it was turned out by the Bristol plant last year.

Angel Food Cake Plans Proved Poor Haloes

FERNDALE, Mich. (AP) — Angel food cake pans don't make good haloes.

Eighteen-month - old Madelene put one over her head Tuesday while her mother, Mrs. Gisele Beaudet, 27, was busy mixing the cake. The pan's detachable bottom had been removed.

Mrs. Beaudet tried to slip it back off but Madelene's nose held it firm. However, firemen did the trick with tin snips.

Both Men and Women Seeking Face-Lifts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Men as well as women are asking to have their faces lifted these days, a Los Angeles surgeon reports.

Dr. Michael Gurdin of Cedars of Lebanon Hospital told the annual meeting of the American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery that most requests come from people whose work depends on their appearance.

He reported an 81-year - old woman, after her fourth face-lift, said:

"Thank you, doctor. I'll see you again in five or six years.

Last of Four Meetings Sunday At Grace Methodist Church

Dr. Richard H. Bauer of Portsmouth will address the fourth and last of a series of weekly meetings on the Ohio Area Study by the Methodist Church at Grace Church here next Sunday evening.

A drama, "Where He Leads Me," also will be presented by the Senior Methodist Youth Fellowship under the direction of Mrs. N. M. Reiff.

DR. RICHARD H. BAUER

The Ohio study was made by the church to determine what effect the state's increasing population and industrialization may have on the church. Particular emphasis was placed on the trend of population shifts from congested centers to suburbs and smaller nearby cities and towns.

Previous reports on the study have stressed the need for more churches and more ministers to serve the growing population.

DR. BAUER will discuss "A Christian Vocation." His talk, the Rev. L. J. Poe, pastor of Grace Church, said, is designed to underscore the advantages of a Christian vocation and the opportunity for service it presents.

The series of meetings is sponsored by the Grace Church Commission on Missions, of which Mrs. John E. Rhoads is chairman. Other members of the commission are Mrs. Ellis Bishop, Mrs. Arch O. Riber, Mrs. Willard Wilson, Miss Marian Christopher, Mrs. C. L. Lewellen, Mrs. Madge Winter, Norris Highfield, Mrs. Dwight Nelson, Mrs. Ethel Caldwell and the Rev. Mr. Poe.

The meeting in the church sanctuary will follow a family potluck supper in Fellowship Hall.

Dr. Bauer is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati and Garrett Bible Institute, Evanston, Ill. Prior to his entrance into the ministry, he was a divisional buyer for The Proctor & Gamble Co. in Cincinnati.

He has served pastorates in North College Hill, Cincinnati for six years and Bellefontaine for three years. He is now superintendent of the Portsmouth district and conference chairman for the Commission for Christian Vocations.

Beef, Pork, Chicken Get 'Special' Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Looking for a bargain in the meat department for this weekend?

Chances are you'll find beef, pork and chicken on sale at special prices in your favorite supermarket or neighborhood food store.

Steaks and rib roasts are more frequently offered than hamburger and chuck, however. Meat men say that's because the number of grain-fed animals, which produce higher grade beef, is expected to hold at last year's level.

Pork supplies are increasing, as they do every year at this time, although they are still a bit below 1956. This winter and next spring, though, slaughter will likely be above year-earlier levels, the Agriculture Department says.

As for chickens, they've been more plentiful than last year for some time and the estimate now is that production will top 1956's 1,345,00.,000 birds by 6 per cent.

Egg prices are generally lower this week, by as much as six cents a dozen for medium grades. This development, coupled with scattered specials on bacon and sausage, may mean fancier breakfasts in many homes this weekend.

Vegetables still rated by produce men as outstanding buys include cabbage, potatoes, onions and cauliflower.

At fruit counters, Western Delicious apples are making a stronger challenge to Eastern area apples this week as prices head downward and supplies become more abundant. In the same vein, Florida grapefruit and oranges are steadily getting more plentiful.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Forty years ago today Communists seized power in Russia. What's happened in that time? What lies ahead?

In 40 years the Russians have made astonishing progress in industry and science. The progress has been concentrated most notably on weapons, the atomic and H-bombs, jet planes, missiles and earth satellites.

That progress would have provided the Russian people with far higher living standards—if it had been devoted to peacetime goods.

In short, a couple of generations of Russians have been used—while forced to do without the modern conveniences and luxuries of the West—to bring Russia abreast of the West industrially in a rush. It worked.

There is no visible discontent in Russia. Living standards can be expected to go up continually as industrial-scientific development is expanded to meet more of the people's needs.

In one spot—the political system—Russia is still immensely backward. A comparatively small group of self-appointed leaders—perhaps 10 million out of more than 200 million people—still rule it by force.

Red party control is a little more relaxed than in Stalin's day. In time perhaps it too will undergo a change and become more democratic, permitting wider participation in government for one of two reasons: either through evolutionary change or the demands and pressures of the people as they become increasingly more educated and questioning.

No government remains fixed and frozen forever. History belies that thought.

On one thing the Red bosses of 1917 were wrong: they thought then world revolution was just around the corner. Disappointed in that, but aggressively crusading, they set out to bring about what didn't happen by itself.

In 40 years—by force and never by persuasion or open and free elections — communism has grabbed all of Eastern Europe, all of China, half of Viet Nam, and North Korea. Its influence is spreading in Asia and the Middle East.

The peoples of the European satellites have shown vast discontent with their Russian masters. That does not mean communism will not spread without the use of Russian armies.

As the years pass, and Russians live better, they will probably move more toward capitalism. And the Western powers, to offset the gains of communism, may be forced to move more toward socialism.

The Winnipeg River, a major source of hydroelectric power, has a total drop of 271 feet within Manitoba to Lake Winnipeg.

2 Men Held in Dayton For Theft of Auto

DAYTON (AP)—Roy Sims, 29, of Harlingen, Tex., and Cecil Edward Shanefelt, 22, of near New Lebanon, face arraignment in federal court here today on a charge of transporting a stolen car from Richmond, Ind. to Dayton. The two, arrested here Friday are also identified by Columbus police as the men who robbed $3,200 from the J & T Grocery in Columbus Sept. 2.

Last of Four Meetings Sunday At Grace Methodist Church

Dr. Richard H. Bauer of Portsmouth will address the fourth and last of a series of weekly meetings on the Ohio Area Study by the Methodist Church at Grace Church here next Sunday evening.

A drama, "Where He Leads Me," also will be presented by the Senior Methodist Youth Fellowship under the direction of Mrs. N. M. Reiff.

The Ohio study was made by the church to determine what effect the state's increasing population and industrialization may have on the church. Particular emphasis was placed on the trend of population shifts from congested centers to suburbs and smaller nearby cities and towns.

Previous reports on the study have stressed the need for more churches and more ministers to serve the growing population.

DR. BAUER will discuss "A Christian Vocation." His talk, the Rev. L. J. Poe, pastor of Grace Church, said, is designed to underscore the advantages of a Christian vocation and the opportunity for service it presents.

The series of meetings is sponsored by the Grace Church Commission on Missions, of which Mrs. John E. Rhoads is chairman. Other members of the commission are Mrs. Ellis Bishop, Mrs. Arch O. Riber, Mrs. Willard Wilson, Miss Marian Christopher, Mrs. C. L. Lewellen, Mrs. Madge Winter, Norris Highfield, Mrs. Dwight Nelson, Mrs. Ethel Caldwell and the Rev. Mr. Poe.

The meeting in the church sanctuary will follow a family potluck supper in Fellowship Hall.

Dr. Bauer is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati and Garrett Bible Institute, Evanston, Ill. Prior to his entrance into the ministry, he was a divisional buyer for The Proctor & Gamble Co. in Cincinnati.

He has served pastorates in North College Hill, Cincinnati for six years and Bellefontaine for three years. He is now superintendent of the Portsmouth district and conference chairman for the Commission for Christian Vocations.

Octogenarian Attorney Beloved by All

Pepe Mendez--Lawyer for the Poor

By EMIL ZUBRYN
Central Press Assn.

MEXICO CITY — Champion in the law courts for Mexico's underprivileged is octogenerian Pepe Mendez. Pepe is more familiarly known as El Corbaton (The Necktie) because of his trade - mark—a wide, black silk, four-in-hand which matches his black homburg.

Now 82 years old, El Corbaton is virtually an invalid. Yet he still manages to present himself before judges, ranging from civil courts to the Mexican supreme court bench, and plead a case with dramatic legal pyrotechnics.

"Look at me, senior," he says with a strong resonant voice. "I am a wreck of a man. Yet here I am, still warring— still battling for my clients. True, I can no longer work miracles such as in the old days. I am an old man. However, I still defend the poor from legal injustices."

FOR OVER half - a - century Pepe has been a familiar figure in the law courts. Back in the early days of his thirties he was already a famed criminal lawyer, defending a long list of alleged bandits and assassins.

However, even then the plight of the common man-in-the-street caught his interest. More and more he came to the rescue workers embroiled with the law.

Perhaps a man had become drunk of a Saturday night and mixed up in a knife or machete fight. Another may have stolen out of hunger; or even killed to defend his honor or that of his family. All found El Corbaton a stout champion.

Pepe Mendez

More likely that not Pepe did not ask any money for his legal services.

"How could I charge one centavo from these people who have nothing?" he said. "They are without hope, all of them, but they have faith in me.

"I have done my best for them. I wish I could still continue at the old, fast pace of youth."

AGE HAS made the court appearances of the lawyer infrequent these days. However, he is busy writing his memoirs. Still, when someone comes to appeal to him, he marshals his strength and goes to bat for them, when the case is meritorious.

His most recent court appearance was to defend Juan Fernandez, an 18 - year - old accused of murder. Mrs. Leonora Fernandez had sought out El Corbaton, pleading with him to take the case.

WHEN PEPE found out the boy had been assaulted by four toughs and killed one in defense of his life (wounding another), he raged at Mexican justice and took the case.

In the case of Juan Fernandez, Pepe got a dismissal within 48 hours. Otherwise, Juan probably would still be awaiting trial, although the "crime" occurred over a year ago. There are cases of prisoners who spend two or three years, and even more, waiting for their cases to come up. The court calendar in Mexico is notoriously overcrowded.

Main preoccupation of El Corbaton is who will take up the cudgels on behalf of his "children" when he is gone. Very rarely does a lawyer in Mexico take a case without a fee.

There is no doubt that Pepe is the beloved of the poor. When he is indisposed, his home is cluttered with the humble folk who wish him well and offer their services.

"I have many, many friends," he said. "And this is much, much better than a lot of money."

2 Men Captured In Florida Tied To Ohio Robbery

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two of three men accused of robbing about $27,000 from the Bank of Andover, Ohio, Oct. 25, have been taken into custody here by the FBI.

Special Agent Scott Alden Wednesday reported the arrest of Charles M. Bradbury, 24, and Karl L. Kellerman, 20. Both lived in Painesville, Ohio, before arriving here Oct. 31. Alden said Bradbury was arrested at a house the pair rented, and Kellerman at a restaurant. Both have criminal records, the FBI agent said.

Still at large is Paul R. Pritt, 21, the third man accused in the robbery. Alden said about $6,000 of the stolen money has been recovered.

Bradbury, a native of Lynn, Mass.; and Kellerman, a native of Pittsburgh, will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Roger Davis here.

TV Offering 'Disappointing'

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—It's difficult to find many people who agree on the nature or ways of love. Everybody has a different definition. When two of opposite sexes agree on love's nature it often leads them into all sorts of complications: marriage, children, mortgages. . . .

Probably there is wide disagreement too on "The Changing Ways of Love," the first offering of "The Seven Lively Arts" (CBS-TV, Sundays, 5 p. m. EST). Personally, I found it a disappointment, while believing that the program itself has great potential.

"The Changing Ways of Love" was an example of television's penchant for categorizing everything on the basis of available economic and social theories — and available film clips. Love just can't be categorized in such a manner.

In brief live dramas, in film and dance and commentary, we saw and heard theories about the manners of love that we've often seen and heard before. In the 1920s love was expressed by "flaming youth" and the Charleston. In the 1930s love was a proleterian affair complicated by an economic depression. In the 1940s and after it ranged from Rita Hayworth to Elvis Presley and Jimmy Dean.

Three truncated dramatic sketches, which tried to illustrate three views of love in three decades, were ineptly selected. They were, however, an excellent vehicle for Piper Laurie.

"The Changing Ways of Love" said some familiar things about various social phenomena of recent years. But of love—its humors and posturings and utter sincerity—scarcely a significant word was said nor a stirring emotion evoked.

'Modest' Riot At Lima Hospital Probed by Patrol

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The State Highway Patrol is still investigating an escape attempt at Lima State Hospital. But Dr. Henry Luidens, superintendent, says the whole thing was over quickly and, as far as he knows, no disciplinary action will be taken against any of the inmates involved.

The escape attempt was made Tuesday night, Dr. Luidens said, when an inmate became irritated because the TV set in his ward was turned off a half-hour early.

He tried to talk the other inmates into pulling a mass escape, but only a handful of the 40 in the ward paid any attention, Dr. Luidens said. They were enough to start a "modest" riot, the superintendent conceded but 15 guards were summoned immediately and the uprising was quieted within 15 minutes.

A ward attendant turned the TV set off when the picture became too fuzzy to see, Dr. Luidens said.

Octogenarian Attorney Beloved by All

By EM.L ZUBRYN
Central Press Assn.

MEXICO CITY — Champion in the law courts for Mexico's underprivileged is octogenerian Pepe Mendez. Pepe is more familiarly known as El Corbaton (The Necktie) because of his trade - mark—a wide, black silk, four-in-hand which matches his black homburg.

Now 82 years old, El Corbaton is virtually an invalid. Yet he still manages to present himself before judges, ranging from civil courts to the Mexican supreme court bench, and plead a case with dramatic legal pyrotechnics.

"Look at me, senior," he says with a strong resonant voice. "I am a wreck of a man. Yet here I am, still warring— still battling for my clients. True, I can no longer work miracles such as in the old days. I am an old man. However, I still defend the poor from legal injustices."

FOR OVER half - a - century Pepe has been a familiar figure in the law courts. Back in the early days of his thirties he was already a famed criminal lawyer, defending a long list of alleged bandits and assassins.

However, even then the plight of the common man-in-the-street caught his interest. More and more he came to the rescue workers embroiled with the law.

Perhaps a man had become

drunk of a Saturday night and mixed up in a knife or machete fight. Another may have stolen out of hunger; or even killed to defend his honor or that of his family. All found El Corbaton a stout champion.

More likely that not Pepe did not ask any money for his legal services.

"How could I charge one centavo from these people who have nothing?" he said. "They are without hope, all of them, but they have faith in me.

"I have done my best for them. I wish I could still continue at the old, fast pace of youth."

AGE HAS made the court appearances of the lawyer infrequent these days. However, he is busy writing his memoirs. Still, when someone comes to appeal to him, he marshals his strength and goes to bat for them, when the case is meritorious.

His most recent court appearance was to defend Juan Fernandez, an 18 - year - old accused of murder. Mrs. Leonora Fernandez had sought out El Corbaton, pleading with him to take the case.

WHEN PEPE found out the boy had been assaulted by four toughs and killed one in defense of his life (wounding another), he raged at Mexican justice and took the case.

In the case of Juan Fernandez, Pepe got a dismissal within 48 hours. Otherwise, Juan probably would still be awaiting trial, although the "crime" occurred over a year ago. There are cases of prisoners who spend two or three years, and even more, waiting for their cases to come up. The court calendar in Mexico is notoriously overcrowded.

Main preoccupation of El Corbaton is who will take up the cudgels on behalf of his "children" when he is gone. Very rarely does a lawyer in Mexico take a case without a fee.

There is no doubt that Pepe is the beloved of the poor. When he is indisposed, his home is cluttered with the humble folk who wish him well and offer their services.

"I have many, many friends," he said. "And this is much, much better than a lot of money."

2 Men Captured In Florida Tied To Ohio Robbery

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two of three men accused of robbing about $27,000 from the Bank of Andover, Ohio, Oct. 25, have been taken into custody here by the FBI.

Special Agent Scott Alden Wednesday reported the arrest of Charles M. Bradbury, 24, and Karl L. Kellerman, 20. Both lived in Painesville, Ohio, before arriving here Oct. 31. Alden said Bradbury was arrested at a house the pair rented, and Kellerman at a restaurant. Both have criminal records, the FBI agent said.

Still at large is Paul R. Pritt, 21, the third man accused in the robbery. Alden said about $6,000 of the stolen money has been recovered.

Bradbury, a native of Lynn, Mass.; and Kellerman, a native of Pittsburgh, will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Roger Davis here.

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—It's difficult to find many people who agree on the nature or ways of love. Everybody has a different definition. When two of opposite sexes agree on love's nature it often leads them into all sorts of complications: marriage, children, mortgages. . . .

Probably there is wide disagreement too on "The Changing Ways of Love," the first offering of "The Seven Lively Arts" (CBS-TV, Sundays, 5 p. m. EST). Personally, I found it a disappointment, while believing that the program itself has great potential.

"The Changing Ways of Love" was an example of television's penchant for categorizing everything on the basis of available economic and social theories — and available film clips. Love just can't be categorized in such a manner.

In brief live dramas, in film and dance and commentary, we saw and heard theories about the manners of love that we've often seen and heard before. In the 1920s love was expressed by "flaming youth" and the Charleston. In the 1930s love was a proleterian affair complicated by an economic depression. In the 1940s and after it ranged from Rita Hayworth to Elvis Presley and Jimmy Dean.

Three truncated dramatic sketches, which tried to illustrate three views of love in three decades, were ineptly selected. They were, however, an excellent vehicle for Piper Laurie.

"The Changing Ways of Love" said some familiar things about various social phenomena of recent years. But of love—its humors and posturings and utter sincerity—scarcely a significant word was said nor a stirring emotion evoked.

'Modest' Riot At Lima Hospital Probed by Patrol

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The State Highway Patrol is still investigating an escape attempt at Lima State Hospital. But Dr. Henry Luidens, superintendent, says the whole thing was over quickly and, as far as he knows, no disciplinary action will be taken against any of the inmates involved.

The escape attempt was made Tuesday night, Dr. Luidens said, when an inmate became irritated because the TV set in his ward was turned off a half-hour early.

He tried to talk the other inmates into pulling a mass escape, but only a handful of the 40 in the ward paid any attention, Dr. Luidens said. They were enough to start a "modest" riot, the superintendent conceded but 15 guards were summoned immediately and the uprising was quieted within 15 minutes.

A ward attendant turned the TV set off when the picture became too fuzzy to see, Dr. Luidens said.

Five More Local Women Join Gray Ladies Group

New Gray Ladies are Mrs. Barbara Bartling, Mrs. Mary Carlisle, Mrs. Anna Creamer, Mrs. Margaret Kratz and Miss Mildred Wachman.

The Fayette County Red Cross chapter has pledged 100 Christmas gifts to the Chillicothe Hospital.

Each Christmas the Red Cross opens a small gift shop for the veterans. Each hospitalized veteran is invited to the shop where he may select a gift for every member of his family. No charge is made for any gift. In addition the gifts are wrapped and mailed by the Red Cross, again at no cost to the veteran.

Any individual or organization wishing to contribute gifts for this Christmas project may leave their gifts at the Korn Insurance Agency, 107 W. Court St., or may phone Mrs. Joseph Peters or Mrs. William C. Bailey to have their contributions picked up. Deadline for gifts is Nov. 12.

THE CHRISTMAS GIFT program is sponsored by the Buckeye Council, of which the Washington C. H. chapter is a member. Gifts generally are in the form of ties, handkerchiefs, stretch socks, tobacco, toilet articles, women's hose, towels, coasters and toys — anything for a man, woman or child.

Another goal of the Buckeye Council is to fill a stocking for each veteran for Christmas morning. Stockings are placed at the foot of each man's bed and are filled with apples, oranges, nuts, combs, soap, pencils, key cases and books. Particularly welcome to the men are paper - back novels.

The deadline for all contributions is Nov. 12.

Grange Group To Recruit Blood Donors

Fayette County Grange officers will make plans Saturday evening at the Farm Bureau Auditorium to get pledges from 200 blood donors to contribute to the Red Cross Blood Bank when it visits Washington C. H. Monday, Dec. 9.

Roscoe Whiteside, deputy master of Fayette County Granges has requested that Grange masters, secretaries, lecturers, and chairmen of home economics, youth and community service committees attend the meeting. The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. In charge of the drive is Mrs. Maryann Morter.

Mrs. Leonard Korn, executive secretary of the Red Cross Blood Bank, should be contacted by anyone wishing an appointment to donate blood. The mobile unit will come from Columbus, and Mrs. Korn must advise them of the number of donations expected by the middle of the preceding week. All contributors should phone Mrs. Korn for their appointments at 2-2401 or 2-3681.

Figures by the month are: January—27; February—27; March—27; April—19; May—19; June—27; July—29; August—33; September—18; October—42.

Lions' Mothers To Get Together

Coaches To Explain Football To Them

Mothers of the boys on the WHS football squad are going to get a chance to learn more about the game when they meet with the coaching staff at the Gardner Park field house tonight.

The meeting was set up by the coaching staff after several of the mothers said they would like to get better acquainted with each other and learn more about the sport that delays supper during the fall while their sons are at practice.

The meeting was originally scheduled for 8 p. m., but Athletic Director Fred Domenico said it probably would not get started that soon because he will be attending a WHS Athletic Board meeting earlier in the evening.

However, Domenico said the wives of the coaches will be at the field house to welcome the mothers as hostesses for a social get - together before the meeting starts. Motion pictures of some of the games also will be shown if there is time, he said.

DOMENICO said he and the other coaches will explain to the mothers the basic principles of football and describe in detail some of the plays as well as what is meant by some of the terms used so frequently by fathers and sons in their talk at the dinner table.

The men have the Boosters Club, Domenico pointed out and added that the Mothers Club—if such a thing should develop at this late stage of the season—would be aimed at putting the whole family on the same sports plane.

He said several mothers had told him they feel "left out of the conversation" at home so much because they don't understand (or so the sons and fathers think) the game.

There are around 35 boys on the WHS squad and Domenico expressed the hope that mothers of all of them will be at the meeting. Any other women will be welcome, too, he said, whether they have football playing sons or not.

Much of the meeting tonight will be devoted to answering questions by the mothers because, as Domenico explained, this is the best way to find out what they want to know and in what phases of the sport they are most interested.

'Cherish Humility,' Speaker Says

Dr. Marble Addresses Rotary Ann Meeting

"I ask you to cherish a measure of humility; to be sensitive to a universe that speaks to us in many ways; to look for what can be found in the unseen and the unexpected—for in that may lie our salvation."

These were the words of Dr. Samuel Marble, president of Wilmington College, who addressed some 150 Rotarians and their wives at a Rotary Ann banquet in the Country Club Wednesday night."

"My message to you is a strange one, it is true," Dr. Marble said, "but I ask you to pause for a moment and think of the things that have come to mankind through accident."

"Sometimes we walk backwards into progress; sometimes we pursue our destiny into failure. Progressive—this elusive quality—is somewhat beguiling and it may come when we least expect it."

"You may ask: 'Were these things accidents, or were they the subtler workings of the ways of God?' You can take it either way. Your job is to understand these things for what they are worth."

DR. MARBLE cited Sir Alexander Fleming ("who stumbled over the secret of penicillin") and George Washington ("who won the battle of Yorktown with a colossal assist from good luck") among others in his talk.

"Let us learn from these things that the universe is far more delicate, and exciting, and complicated, than we know," Dr. Marble suggested.

Joseph Campbell was general chairman for the special evening meeting. Ralph Penn headed the program committee, and George Kratz was in charge of decorations. John Leland headed a committee that made arrangements for the turkey dinner and Robert Lisk headed the greeting committee.

Guests at the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Hal V. Hunt of Van Wert, with Ralph Penn; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hire, with Ben Norris; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Terhune, with Dewey Sheidler; Mr. and Mrs. Vern Seiver, with Robert Haigler; and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Perrill, with Walter Morrow.

Seiver is president of the Hillsboro Rotary Club. Hunt was secretary of the old YMCA in Washington C. H. Mrs. Marble attended with her husband, who is a Wilmington Rotarian.

New Holland Transfer

districts within the county where there are now 16 separate districts. That move was later rescinded on a technicality.

Wednesday night the board revised its consolidation plans, dividing the county into three districts instead of four. The new plan puts eight school districts, including New Holland into a new "Western District".

Five other districts were included in a new "Northeast" district. Three other districts make up the new Logan Elm District which lies in the southeast part of Pickaway County.

The seven present districts combined with New Holland in the new consolidation plan are Deercreek (Williamsport), Monroe, Darby, Muhlenberg, Jackson, Perry and Wayne.

A spokesman for the New Holland petitioners said Thursday that "every effort will be made to meet the wishes of more than 90 per cent of the residents of the district for consolidation with Fayette County."

The New Holland board has backed the transfer unanimously.

It is estimated that 70 per cent of the area of New Holland district is in Fayette County and at least 40 per cent of the New Holland students live in Fayette County.

Five More Local Women Join Gray Ladies Group

New Gray Ladies are Mrs. Barbara Bartling, Mrs. Mary Carlisle, Mrs. Anna Creamer, Mrs. Margaret Kratz and Miss Mildred Wachman.

The Fayette County Red Cross chapter has pledged 100 Christmas gifts to the Chillicothe Hospital.

Each Christmas the Red Cross opens a small gift shop for the veterans. Each hospitalized veteran is invited to the shop where he may select a gift for every member of his family. No charge is made for any gift. In addition the gifts are wrapped and mailed by the Red Cross, again at no cost to the veteran.

Any individual or organization wishing to contribute gifts for this Christmas project may leave their gifts at the Korn Insurance Agency, 107 W. Court St., or may phone Mrs. Joseph Peters or Mrs. William C. Bailey to have their contributions picked up. Deadline for gifts is Nov. 12.

THE CHRISTMAS GIFT program is sponsored by the Buckeye Council, of which the Washington C. H. chapter is a member. Gifts generally are in the form of ties, handkerchiefs, stretch socks, tobacco, toilet articles, women's hose, towels, coasters and toys — anything for a man, woman or child.

Another goal of the Buckeye Council is to fill a stocking for each veteran for Christmas morning. Stockings are placed at the foot of each man's bed and are filled with apples, oranges, nuts, combs, soap, pencils, key cases and books. Particularly welcome to the men are paper - back novels.

The deadline for all contributions is Nov. 12.

Grange Group To Recruit Blood Donors

Fayette County Grange officers will make plans Saturday evening at the Farm Bureau Auditorium to get pledges from 200 blood donors to contribute to the Red Cross Blood Bank when it visits Washington C. H. Monday, Dec. 9.

Roscoe Whiteside, deputy master of Fayette County Granges has requested that Grange masters, secretaries, lecturers, and chairmen of home economics, youth and community service committees attend the meeting. The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. In charge of the drive is Mrs. Maryann Morter.

Mrs. Leonard Korn, executive secretary of the Red Cross Blood Bank, should be contacted by anyone wishing an appointment to donate blood. The mobile unit will come from Columbus, and Mrs. Korn must advise them of the number of donations expected by the middle of the preceding week. All contributors should phone Mrs. Korn for their appointments at 2-2401 or 2-3681.

Chilly Nights

Wednesday's high was 49 degrees.

273 Accidents In 311 Days Here Records Show

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department has investigated 273 auto accidents in the 311 days since the beginning of the year, records totalled by Deputy Sheriff Charles Hays show.

"This works out to about three accidents every four days—or not much less than one a day," he commented.

Worst month in the year so far was October, when 42 accidents were investigated—better than one a day. September, the month just before, was the best with only 18.

Figures by the month are: January—27; February—27; March—27; April—19; May—19; June—27; July—29; August—33; September—18; October—42.

Five have been investigated so far in November.

Lions' Mothers To Get Together

Coaches To Explain Football To Them

Mothers of the boys on the WHS football squad are going to get a chance to learn more about the game when they meet with the coaching staff at the Gardner Park field house tonight.

The meeting was set up by the coaching staff after several of the mothers said they would like to get better acquainted with each other and learn more about the sport that delays supper during the fall while their sons are at practice.

The meeting was originally scheduled for 8 p. m., but Athletic Director Fred Domenico said it probably would not get started that soon because he will be attending a WHS Athletic Board meeting earlier in the evening.

However, Domenico said the wives of the coaches will be at the field house to welcome the mothers as hostesses for a social get - together before the meeting starts. Motion pictures of some of the games also will be shown if there is time, he said.

DOMENICO said he and the other coaches will explain to the mothers the basic principles of football and describe in detail some of the plays as well as what is meant by some of the terms used so frequently by fathers and sons in their talk at the dinner table.

The men have the Boosters Club, Domenico pointed out and added that the Mothers Club—if such a thing should develop at this late stage of the season—would be aimed at putting the whole family on the same sports plane.

He said several mothers had told him they feel "left out of the conversation" at home so much because they don't understand (or so the sons and fathers think) the game.

There are around 35 boys on the WHS squad and Domenico expressed the hope that mothers of all of them will be at the meeting. Any other women will be welcome, too, he said, whether they have football playing sons or not.

Much of the meeting tonight will be devoted to answering questions by the mothers because, as Domenico explained, this is the best way to find out what they want to know and in what phases of the sport they are most interested.

'Cherish Humility,' Speaker Says

Dr. Marble Addresses Rotary Ann Meeting

"I ask you to cherish a measure of humility; to be sensitive to a universe that speaks to us in many ways; to look for what can be found in the unseen and the unexpected—for in that may lie our salvation."

These were the words of Dr. Samuel Marble, president of Wilmington College, who addressed some 150 Rotarians and their wives at a Rotary Ann banquet in the Country Club Wednesday night."

"My message to you is a strange one, it is true," Dr. Marble said, "but I ask you to pause for a moment and think of the things that have come to mankind through accident."

"Sometimes we walk backwards into progress; sometimes we pursue our destiny into failure. Progressive—this elusive quality—is somewhat beguiling and it may come when we least expect it."

"You may ask: 'Were these things accidents, or were they the subtler workings of the ways of God?' You can take it either way. Your job is to understand these things for what they are worth."

DR. MARBLE cited Sir Alexander Fleming ("who stumbled over the secret of penicillin") and George Washington ("who won the battle of Yorktown with a colossal assist from good luck") among others in his talk.

"Let us learn from these things that the universe is far more delicate, and exciting, and complicated, than we know," Dr. Marble suggested.

Joseph Campbell was general chairman for the special evening meeting. Ralph Penn headed the program committee, and George Kratz was in charge of decorations. John Leland headed a committee that made arrangements for the turkey dinner and Robert Lisk headed the greeting committee.

Guests at the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Hal V. Hunt of Van Wert, with Ralph Penn; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hire, with Ben Norris; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Terhune, with Dewey Sheidler; Mr. and Mrs. Vern Seiver, with Robert Haigler; and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Perrill, with Walter Morrow.

Seiver is president of the Hillsboro Rotary Club. Hunt was secretary of the old YMCA in Washington C. H. Mrs. Marble attended with her husband, who is a Wilmington Rotarian.

Blue, Coe Named Jefferson Trustees

The results of the Jefferson Township trusteeship race was inadvertantly omitted from the Record-Herald's election summary.

H. M. Blue and Guy M. Coe, the two incumbent trustees, were reelected.

Votes for the four candidates were: Coe, 364; Blue, 342; K. K. Knox, 243, and Alfred Burr, 203.

districts within the county where there are now 16 separate districts. That move was later rescinded on a technicality.

Wednesday night the board revised its consolidation plans, dividing the county into three districts instead of four. The new plan puts eight school districts, including New Holland into a new "Western District".

Five other districts were included in a new "Northeast" district. Three other districts make up the new Logan Elm District which lies in the southeast part of Pickaway County.

The seven present districts combined with New Holland in the new consolidation plan are Deercreek (Williamsport), Monroe, Darby, Muhlenberg, Jackson, Perry and Wayne.

A spokesman for the New Holland petitioners said Thursday that "every effort will be made to meet the wishes of more than 90 per cent of the residents of the district for consolidation with Fayette County."

The New Holland board has backed the transfer unanimously.

It is estimated that 70 per cent of the area of New Holland district is in Fayette County and at least 40 per cent of the New Holland students live in Fayette County.

2 Changes in Constitution Due To Be Effective Soon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two changes in Ohio's constitution will become official about mid-November when Secretary of State Ted W. Brown certifies Tuesday's election results.

Voters approved those amendments, but rejected a third proposal placed on ballots by the last Legislature.

Further legislative action in the 1959 session is called for by voter approval of the amendment to permit Ohio residents of less than a year to vote for President and Vice President.

The General Assembly expects to set ground rules for such voting before the 1960 presidential election. Without general laws for the method of operation, the amendment would be ineffective, Brown explained.

He said the Legislature presumably would fix a period considerably shorter than the present one-year residence requirement to be eligible to vote for presidential electors.

Lawmakers also may provide for those moving to another state during quadrennial election years to vote for President and Vice President in Ohio, if they are ineligible to vote in their new homes, Brown added.

He said thousands lose their right to vote in presidential election years by moving. Many can't vote in the state they leave and Ohio's one-year residence requirement up to now has prevented them from voting here. Brown said that situation prompted him to plug for the change.

Observers expected Cuyahoga County to take the lead in seeking to change the form of its government under a simplified process made available by the other approved constitutional amendment.

Voters in that county made the biggest contribution to the 32,761 statewide margin for adoption of the amendment making it easier for counties of more than 500,000 population to approve county charter governments. Cuyahoga, Franklin and Hamilton are the only counties with more than a half-million population.

And amendment deletes a fourth step blamed for preventing adoption of a countywide city government. This type government has been advocated as an answer to service problems in rapidly growing and already populous areas.

Steps necessary to win "exclusive" municipal rights for a countywide government in the "Big Three" under the revised constitution require majority approval of voters in the entire county, the largest city and the county outside the largest city.

The four-step approval process remains unchanged for "exclusive" charters in counties below the 500,000 population mark. The fourth step, in addition to the other three, requires approval by a majority of voters "in each of a majority of the combined total of municipalities and townships in the county."

Twenty-one of Ohio's 88 counties returned favorable majorities for the county charter amendment but Cuyahoga County's 40,000 edge turned the tide that was adverse downstate.

Besides Cuyahoga, other populous counties supporting the amendment are Franklin, Hamilton, Summit, Mahoning, Montgomery and Lucas. Summit County's margins 16,600. It is 13,800 in Lucas County and 11,000 in Hamilton County. Franklin County's margin of 1,606 is smallest in the major group. Stark alone of the major counties disapproves.

Smaller counties with thin margins of approval are Erie, Geauga, Lake, Miami, Ottawa, Richland, Ross, Allen, Fulton, Greene, Ashtabula, Jefferson, Medina, Wayne and Wood.

A third amendment proposal, to eliminate the one-year residence requirement for appointees to nonelective public office, met solid defeat. Not a county favors the proposal. It is backed by Gov. C. William O'Neill. Some observers regard the result as a test of gubernatorial sentiment.

O'Neill backed the amendment because the residence requirement made it difficult for him to hire outside experts for Cabinet posts.

As a result, he made Charles M. Noble, former New Jersey Turnpike engineer, his secretary in charge of highways at $30,000 a year. Noble will be eligible for appointment as state highway director in mid-January. He could have been named director officially after certification of the vote this month if the amendment had carried.

Other prospects turned down offers of Ohio appointments because of the residence restriction. It appears well entrenched as a result of Tuesday's voting.

U. S. Science Presses Hunt For New Fuel

More Powerful Rocket Booster Sought after Success of Sputniks

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Military scientists are pressing broad research in a quest for new or improved fuels to power big missiles and satellites.

But any bid in the near future to recapture the lead which Russia has taken in rocketry probably will be made with existing, tested types of power.

A Russian broadcast claimed the use of "improved new instruments and sources of power" in the launching of Sputnik II last weekend, but the broadcast gave no details.

At present, fuel for the large missile and for the primary engines of planned satellite launchers are liquid—a combination of forms of hydrocarbons (which burn) and an oxidizer (usually liquid oxygen called "lox") which enable them to burn at altitudes where there is little or no natural oxygen to support combustion.

These liquid fuels have disadvantages. Their use requires a maze of plumbing in rocket engines; liquid fuel is heavy for the amount of energy it yields; it is difficult and dangerous to handle.

There is a tendency toward solid fuels.

William M. Holaday, special defense assistant for guided missiles, said recently that the performance of solid propellents has been improved "to the point where they are nearing that of liquid propellents now used in current large liquid rockets."

He made those remarks at an address dedicating a rocket engine plant built by the Thiokol Chemical Corp. at Birmingham City, Utah. That plant, he commented, includes a chamber for testing rockets producing two million pounds of thrust. Holaday did not say that such rockets, using either liquid or solid fuel, are in existence now, but cited it as an example of goals in rocket development.

The trade publication Aviation Daily reports that the largest United States design, intended for the Titan ICBM, is of 300,000 pounds thrust. In contrast, Russia is described as having tested a rocket delivering 820,000 pounds, probably intended for use in the Soviet T-3 ICBM.

In the search for better fuels, one path has led toward the use of elements to boost the heat energy content of conventional carbons—as additives are used in automobile gasoline.

The magazine Missile and Rockets, does not appear to share Holaday's view that the use of solid fuel for big rocket engines is close. It suggests that such fuel for operational use of intermediate range ballistic missiles may be about five years away.

Ohio Tax Take Hiked

Community Players To Present Comedy

"His and Hers," a three - act comedy, will be the spring production of the newly organized Community Players. The play was a Broadway hit a few years ago and will be the first play presented by the new group, according to Hal Summers, president.

At a recent official board meeting, Nov. 22 was designated the next meeting night for the group. That meeting will close membership for the year, but shortly after the first of the year membership will again be opened. 2 Changes in Constitution Due To Be Effective Soon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two changes in Ohio's constitution will become official about mid-November when Secretary of State Ted W. Brown certifies Tuesday's election results.

Voters approved those amendments, but rejected a third proposal placed on ballots by the last Legislature.

Further legislative action in the 1959 session is called for by voter approval of the amendment to permit Ohio residents of less than a year to vote for President and Vice President.

The General Assembly expects to set ground rules for such voting before the 1960 presidential election. Without general laws for the method of operation, the amendment would be ineffective, Brown explained.

He said the Legislature presumably would fix a period considerably shorter than the present one-year residence requirement to be eligible to vote for presidential electors.

Lawmakers also may provide for those moving to another state during quadrennial election years to vote for President and Vice President in Ohio, if they are ineligible to vote in their new homes, Brown added.

He said thousands lose their right to vote in presidential election years by moving. Many can't vote in the state they leave and Ohio's one-year residence requirement up to now has prevented them from voting here. Brown said that situation prompted him to plug for the change.

Observers expected Cuyahoga County to take the lead in seeking to change the form of its government under a simplified process made available by the other approved constitutional amendment.

Voters in that county made the biggest contribution to the 32,761 statewide margin for adoption of the amendment making it easier for counties of more than 500,000 population to approve county charter governments. Cuyahoga, Franklin and Hamilton are the only counties with more than a half-million population.

And amendment deletes a fourth step blamed for preventing adoption of a countywide city government. This type government has been advocated as an answer to service problems in rapidly growing and already populous areas.

Steps necessary to win "exclusive" municipal rights for a countywide government in the "Big Three" under the revised constitution require majority approval of voters in the entire county, the largest city and the county outside the largest city.

The four-step approval process remains unchanged for "exclusive" charters in counties below the 500,000 population mark. The fourth step, in addition to the other three, requires approval by a majority of voters "in each of a majority of the combined total of municipalities and townships in the county."

Twenty-one of Ohio's 88 counties returned favorable majorities for the county charter amendment but Cuyahoga County's 40,000 edge turned the tide that was adverse downstate.

Besides Cuyahoga, other populous counties supporting the amendment are Franklin, Hamilton, Summit, Mahoning, Montgomery and Lucas. Summit County's margins 16,600. It is 13,800 in Lucas County and 11,000 in Hamilton County. Franklin County's margin of 1,606 is smallest in the major group. Stark alone of the major counties disapproves.

Smaller counties with thin margins of approval are Erie, Geauga, Lake, Miami, Ottawa, Richland, Ross, Allen, Fulton, Greene, Ashtabula, Jefferson, Medina, Wayne and Wood.

A third amendment proposal, to eliminate the one-year residence requirement for appointees to nonelective public office, met solid defeat. Not a county favors the proposal. It is backed by Gov. C. William O'Neill. Some observers regard the result as a test of gubernatorial sentiment.

O'Neill backed the amendment because the residence requirement made it difficult for him to hire outside experts for Cabinet posts.

As a result, he made Charles M. Noble, former New Jersey Turnpike engineer, his secretary in charge of highways at $30,000 a year. Noble will be eligible for appointment as state highway director in mid-January. He could have been named director officially after certification of the vote this month if the amendment had carried.

Other prospects turned down offers of Ohio appointments because of the residence restriction. It appears well entrenched as a result of Tuesday's voting.

U. S. Science Presses Hunt For New Fuel

More Powerful Rocket Booster Sought after Success of Sputniks

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Military scientists are pressing broad research in a quest for new or improved fuels to power big missiles and satellites.

But any bid in the near future to recapture the lead which Russia has taken in rocketry probably will be made with existing, tested types of power.

A Russian broadcast claimed the use of "improved new instruments and sources of power" in the launching of Sputnik II last weekend, but the broadcast gave no details.

At present, fuel for the large missile and for the primary engines of planned satellite launchers are liquid—a combination of forms of hydrocarbons (which burn) and an oxidizer (usually liquid oxygen called "lox") which enable them to burn at altitudes where there is little or no natural oxygen to support combustion.

These liquid fuels have disadvantages. Their use requires a maze of plumbing in rocket engines; liquid fuel is heavy for the amount of energy it yields; it is difficult and dangerous to handle.

There is a tendency toward solid fuels.

William M. Holaday, special defense assistant for guided missiles, said recently that the performance of solid propellents has been improved "to the point where they are nearing that of liquid propellents now used in current large liquid rockets."

He made those remarks at an address dedicating a rocket engine plant built by the Thiokol Chemical Corp. at Birmingham City, Utah. That plant, he commented, includes a chamber for testing rockets producing two million pounds of thrust. Holaday did not say that such rockets, using either liquid or solid fuel, are in existence now, but cited it as an example of goals in rocket development.

The trade publication Aviation Daily reports that the largest United States design, intended for the Titan ICBM, is of 300,000 pounds thrust. In contrast, Russia is described as having tested a rocket delivering 820,000 pounds, probably intended for use in the Soviet T-3 ICBM.

In the search for better fuels, one path has led toward the use of elements to boost the heat energy content of conventional carbons—as additives are used in automobile gasoline.

The magazine Missile and Rockets, does not appear to share Holaday's view that the use of solid fuel for big rocket engines is close. It suggests that such fuel for operational use of intermediate range ballistic missiles may be about five years away.

Salvage Crews Remove Litter of War

Japs Return to Rabaul

Rusting Japanese landing craft litter Rabaul's shore.

By ARTHUR SCHOLES
Central Press Assn.

PORT MORESBY, Territory of Papus, New Guinea—The Japanese are back in Rabaul, New Britain island, 550 miles northwest of here, the base they held for three years against the might of American Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Allied air assault.

However, this time the Japanese have not come as conquerors to wipe out a tiny Australian garrison. They have come as traders to clean up the mess left behind after World War II.

European and Australian salvage firms attempted to clean up the sunken warships and merchant hulks dotting Rabaul harbor. All abandoned the job. The salvage work proved too costly.

Three years ago public opinion in Rabaul would have made any return of the Japanese impossible. However, today the population of natives and Australians is heartily sick of the junk littering the littoral.

RABAUL residents reluctantly admit that Japan is the only country he can clean up the aftermath of war on an economic basis on a tropical island.

Fifty Japanese salvagers arrived in Rabaul in chartered aircraft. Quartered in a compound on the far side of town, they soon settled down to drink beer and hand out cigarets named "Peace."

The compound is near the spot where they invaded New Guinea on Jan. 21, 1942. None of the salvagers served with the Nipponese army in New Guniea, most of them were lads at school during the war.

The Japanese army made its headquarters at Rabaul, from where it hoped to launch a successful invasion of Australia.

The Japanese attempt was thwarted by the Allied victory in the Battle of the Coral Sea in May. 1942.

Gen. MacArthur's bombers blasted the Rabaul caves and underground shelters used by the Japanese for three years.

The Japanese on New Britain island were "by passed" by MacArthur when he launched the invasion of the Philippines from Hollandia, West New Guinea.

THE JAPANESE garrison surrendered to American and Australian forces in August, 1945.

They left behind them 300 wrecked vessels in the harbor and round the neighboring coast, and also a huge quantity of stores, ammunition and vehicles.

The land salvage of Japanese and Allied equipment has been nearly completed, but it is expected to take at least a few years before the marine hulks are broken up. Two hundred Japanese will ultimately be at work in Rabaul salvaging war junk.

The Australian government granted permission for the Japanese to operate in Rabaul only after a canvass of public opinion in the town.

Rabaul residents, with memories of Japanese war crimes still vivid, agreed to allow the salvage team to enter on the basis of "Get in and get out."

Provided the Japanese stick to their compound, and ship salvage work, Rabaulites say there will be no trouble.

Reelected Mayor Tossed Into Jail

CLEVELAND (AP) — William R. Gerdon, 49, who on his seventh term as mayor of Cuyahoga Heights Tuesday was tossed into Cleveland jail Wednesday on an intoxication charge.

A waitress at a downtown restaurant said the mayor "was a perfect gentleman" when he came in and ordered waffles.

But he kept "falling asleep "and I was afraid he would fall off the stool and hurt himself," she said, so she called the police.

Gerdon was found guilty by Municipal Judge James T. Cassidy, who suspended costs and permitted the mayor to go home.

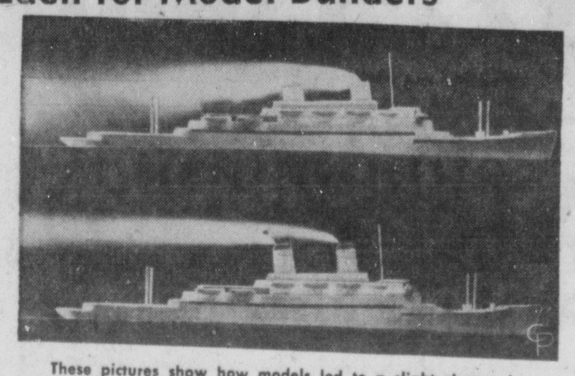
Atom Ship Laboratories Eden for Model Builders



These pictures show how models led to a slight change in design which spared passengers aboard the liners SS Constitution and SS Independence from getting smoke in their eyes.

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON

QUINCY, Mass.—The laboratories of the shipyard here where the world's first atomic-powered vessels are being built under a cloak of great secrecy is a paradise for model shipbuilders.

Accurate scale models for thorough pre-testing of hull designs and other ship features both above and below the waterline have played a major role for 30 years in the design of many of the world's most advanced ships at the central technical department of Bethlehem Steel.

The miniature boats are put through many a "stormy sea" in water tanks and wind tunnels to make sure that their full-fledged versions will perform exactly as envisaged.

IN THE OLD days of sailboats, the chief shipwright used to place his ear against the main mast on its first voyage and listen for any "heart murmurs" deep in the vitals of the vessel. It was a dark science, and if it yielded any information at all, it usually came too late.

Daniel D. Strohmeier, vice-president of Bethlehem's shipbuilding division, has announced that rapid progress is being made in the design of a nuclear power plant for a Navy destroyer.

It is a co-operative effort between the central technical department and the Knolls Atomic Power laboratory at Schenectady, N. Y.

The atomic scientist are responsible for the development of the nuclear propulsion plant of the pressurized water type, the ship designers for the floating and sailing properties of the future vessel

ACCORDING to R. H. Tingery, head of the staff of 350 naval architects, marine engineers, ship draftsmen and people trained in the related branches of engineering—mechanical, electrical, civil, chemical, metallurgical and nulem is the concentration of weight of the atomic powered unit as contrasted with the sprawling plant of a conventionally powered vessel.

They have considerable experience along that line here already, because of the successful work already done under wraps on the first nuclear powered guided missile, the USS Long Beach.

The next logical step will be the adapting of such power to commercial freighters so that they may sail indefinitely without refueling. A logical candidate will be some ship along the lines of the 46,000-ton tanker World Beauty, launched here last January as the largest cargo ship ever built in the United States.

OR ONE of the 100,000-ton tankers on the drawing boards may get the nod for installation of an atomic power plant, possibly as soon as 1960,61.

It is in the laboratories and drafting rooms here that the great luxury liners SS Independence and SS Constitution were built, and the ultimate achievement in the minds of many of the experts here will be the nuclear propulsion of such giant ships as these.

ATTENTION to details, such as the height and pitch of the twin funnels of the sister liners so that the pume of smoke does not get in the eyes of the passengers, is the source of greatest pride to the designers here who first try out the design in an over-size bathtub and then see it take shape several city blocks long.

There are no smoke problems of an atomic-powered ship, but the same elements of water and wind resistance remain to be licked in the laboratories.

Ladies' Spike Heels Cause of Wiggles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ladies who don't want their fannies to wiggle shouldn't wear spike heels, says Dr. Elizabeth S. Austin.

Dr. Austin is an associate clinical professor in the medical school at the University of Southern California.

Spike heels, she told the California Academy of General Practice, force the weight to the front of the foot. This taxes muscles and shortens the gait. It also causes a counteracting tendency to lean backward, whereupon the heels go "clunk, clunk, clunk, and certain parts of the body start to wiggle."

Dr. Austin wears medium-height heels—and no wiggle.

But Can It Be Sawed?

COVENTRY, England (AP) — Strengthened glass bricks set in concrete frames have replaced iron bars in the cells of the new police headquarters in this Warwickshire city.

Pennsy, New York Central Say 13 Trains Run in 'Red'

COLUMBUS (AP) — Representatives of two railroads that discontinued 13 passenger trains in Ohio told the Utilities Commission Wednesday that the trains were cut because they were not paying their own way.

The statements were made during an informal conference called by the commission to get a look at the passenger service that remains after the cut off. Commission Ralph Winter, who with Commissioner Edward J. Kenealy presided over the conference, said there would be formal hearings in cases where it appears remaining service will not be adequate.

He said he hoped the conference will clarify the issues and point to some that can be resolved without formal hearings.

The New York Central discontinued nine trains while the Pennsylvania cut off four.

William R. Main of New York City, director of passenger services for the NYC, said that railroad is caught in a three-way squeeze of lower passenger revenues, lower freight revenues and increased expenses.

He said that to Sept. 30 of this year the railroad's net income amounts to 8.8 million dollars which includes income from its real estate holdings and securities it owns. If it weren't for those holdings, he said, the railroad might find itself in the courts. Another NYC spokesman in the hearing room told newsmen Main apparently referred to the possibility of bankruptcy.

Main said the New York Central has discontinued trains in other states and that the Ohio trains were discontinued only after a close study.

Attorney Oscar Lindstrand, assistant general counsel of Pennsylvania, said, "we're not going out of the passenger business but we're trying to operate economically."

He said two of the trains that railroad discontinued operated at a $125,000 loss during the 12 months before Oct. 27. And he added that only the city of Columbus had objected to removal of the other two trains which run to Indianapolis.

He Floors 3 Dummies, Gets 115 Days in Jail

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Ernest Dully, 50, testified he had drunk a little too much when he squared off against three store mannequins. He pleaded guilty in city court to using the dummies as sparring partners. He floored all three.

Dully then crossed the street to another store where he stole a bottle of hand lotion for treatment of bruised knuckles, officers testified. A city judge sentenced Dully to 115 days.

Budapest People Told To Fly Flags

VIENNA (AP) — Budapest's Communist City Council has told the people of the Hungarian capital to decorate their homes with flags Thursday to honor the 40th anniversary of the Soviet Revolution "and display your love for the great Soviet people."

The instructions contrasted with the Communists' ban Oct. 23 and last Monday on the flying of black flags for Hungarians killed in the anti-Soviet revolt a year ago.

The Red rulers also required Hungarians to work overtime in factories to increase production "in honor of the Soviet anniversary." Similar extra shifts were imposed in the other European satellites and in Russia.

If You Are a Mouse Get a Mickey Bus

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Walt Disney's family of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Pluto, etc. is helping Englewood school children to avert school bus mixups.

Each bus at the Montgomery County school has a different Disney character pasted on the door. Each pupil riding a bus has a corresponding picture, so by putting two Plutos together everybody gets on the right bus.

Pennsy, New York Central Say 13 Trains Run in 'Red'

COLUMBUS (AP) — Representatives of two railroads that discontinued 13 passenger trains in Ohio told the Utilities Commission Wednesday that the trains were cut because they were not paying their own way.

The statements were made during an informal conference called by the commission to get a look at the passenger service that remains after the cut off. Commission Ralph Winter, who with Commissioner Edward J. Kenealy presided over the conference, said there would be formal hearings in cases where it appears remaining service will not be adequate.

He said he hoped the conference will clarify the issues and point to some that can be resolved without formal hearings.

The New York Central discontinued nine trains while the Pennsylvania cut off four.

William R. Main of New York City, director of passenger services for the NYC, said that railroad is caught in a three-way squeeze of lower passenger revenues, lower freight revenues and increased expenses.

He said that to Sept. 30 of this year the railroad's net income amounts to 8.8 million dollars which includes income from its real estate holdings and securities it owns. If it weren't for those holdings, he said, the railroad might find itself in the courts. Another NYC spokesman in the hearing room told newsmen Main apparently referred to the possibility of bankruptcy.

Main said the New York Central has discontinued trains in other states and that the Ohio trains were discontinued only after a close study.

Attorney Oscar Lindstrand, assistant general counsel of Pennsylvania, said, "we're not going out of the passenger business but we're trying to operate economically."

He said two of the trains that railroad discontinued operated at a $125,000 loss during the 12 months before Oct. 27. And he added that only the city of Columbus had objected to removal of the other two trains which run to Indianapolis.

He Floors 3 Dummies, Gets 115 Days in Jail

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Ernest Dully, 50, testified he had drunk a little too much when he squared off against three store mannequins. He pleaded guilty in city court to using the dummies as sparring partners. He floored all three.

Dully then crossed the street to another store where he stole a bottle of hand lotion for treatment of bruised knuckles, officers testified. A city judge sentenced Dully to 115 days.

Budapest People Told To Fly Flags

VIENNA (AP) — Budapest's Communist City Council has told the people of the Hungarian capital to decorate their homes with flags Thursday to honor the 40th anniversary of the Soviet Revolution "and display your love for the great Soviet people."

The instructions contrasted with the Communists' ban Oct. 23 and last Monday on the flying of black flags for Hungarians killed in the anti-Soviet revolt a year ago.

The Red rulers also required Hungarians to work overtime in factories to increase production "in honor of the Soviet anniversary." Similar extra shifts were imposed in the other European satellites and in Russia.

If You Are a Mouse Get a Mickey Bus

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Walt Disney's family of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Pluto, etc. is helping Englewood school children to avert school bus mixups.

Each bus at the Montgomery County school has a different Disney character pasted on the door. Each pupil riding a bus has a corresponding picture, so by putting two Plutos together everybody gets on the right bus.

U. S. Scientific Spending Hits $10 Billion

Yearly Outlay Average Expected To Rocket As Result of Sputnik

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The U. S. government and industry today are spending at a 10 billion dollar a year clip for scientific research and development.

And Sputnik seems likely to inspire a rocket like climb in that figure next year, especially in the government's share, which is now about one third.

President Eisenhower will speak to the nation tonight on the role of science and research in national security.

The government is doing more than half of the spending on basic research—the pure science from which Sputnik was developed as the most publicized result of the present International Geophysical Year, a cooperative venture into pure science.

Warnings some time back that the Russians were pulling ahead in pure science research brought a reply from some quarters that the question was whether America's scientific security race with the Soviets was a marathon or a sprint.

Industry is putting some 4 to 6 per cent of its 7 billion dollars a year spending into basic science studies. For example, the University of Chicago gets about 1½ million dollars a year from corporations for basic research problems and is conducting some 1,000 of them in 500 laboratories. The bulk of industrial spending goes for applied research and product development.

Her government and private researchers often benefit jointly. For example, early studies in commercial aircraft helped develop military craft, while the upcoming commercial jet airliners owe much to government research that produced the jet military bombers and transports.

Some government officials estimate that only 5 to 10 per cent of total government research spending of more than 3 billion dollars a year is for basic science.

But the National Science Foundation says that the Defense Department finds basic science hard to define. The foundation divides total government research spending into 60 per cent on development—from missiles to livestock feed—and 40 per cent on basic science and application of it to specific objectives.

The Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission spend 85 per cent of the federal research dollar.

The war gave research its big boost. Before World War II, federal and private spending was at a 1 billion dollars a year pace, compared with today's 10 billion.

Studies of industrial spending in 1953 by the BLS and the National Science Foundation put spending at 3¾ billion dollars, with the government aiding these private projects to the tune of nearly 1½ billion in grants.

The electrical equipment industry topped the list with 778 million dollars for research and development, while the aircraft and parts industry spent 758 million. Chemicals were third with 361 million.

Breaking down the costs to industry as a percentage of its sales, the survey showed aircraft firms putting 9 cents of their sales dollar into research, electrical equipment 6 cents of each dollar, and professional and scientific instrument firms 4¾ cents.

Today's highly complicated military and civilian products doubtless call for much more expensive research. And remember there's often a time lag of seven years before the start of research and the large scale production of the resultant product.

4-County K. of P. Meet At Jeff Friday Night

Knights of Pythias members from Fayette, Franklin, Madison and Pickaway counties will meet in the Sunflower Lodge hall at Jeffersonville at 8 p. m. Friday.

State Pythian leaders will outline the program to be carried out during this year under the new state head of the organization, Dale W. Stump, Columbus attorney, who is well known here.

Kenneth W. Hess, Springfield, superintendent of the Knights of Pythias Home for the Aged, will discuss plans for a $200,000 campaign for an addition to the lodge's home and hospital in that city.

James M. Leonard, Columbus, former head of the state organization and chairman of a special statewide committee, will tell of plans for this year's high school poster contest on highway safety.

AS A PART of the continent-wide Highway Courtesy Campaign which the Knights of Pythias have been conducting for several years. Ohio Pythians two years ago tried out a poster contest for high school boys and girls in Sunbury. Leaders said that it proved so successful the first year that last year there were over 800 entries. Next spring the organization plans to conduct a similar contest in every high school in the state.

In announcing the contest, Stump pointed out that great benefits will come from having tens of thousands of high school boys and girls concentrating on the question of highway safety and drawing posters to convince others of its importance. The contest provides that each contestant display a poster in a public place before the contest next spring.

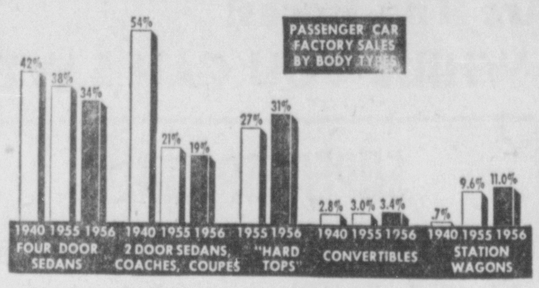
LEWIS VOGT, Delphos, chairman of a special committee of deputies, will outline plans for raising funds for conducting the youth and welfare program of aiding children who are handicapped by defects of speech, hearing and sight.

M. L. Lyons, 704 E. Market St., Washington C. H., is the deputy for the Jeffersonville lodge. Lyons said that this is the first year for Fayette County Pythians to be placed in the Columbus district.



POPULARITY POLL—This chart made by the Automobile Manufacturers association, Detroit, indicates increase in popularity of "hard tops," convertibles and station wagons, and decrease in popularity of sedan types. Station wagons show greatest gain.

Bucks Picked To Top Purdue By 14 to 7

Midwestern Expert Predicts Notre Dame To Lose Second Game

By JERRY LISKA
Midwest AP Sports Editor

CHICAGO (AP)—Sputnik II is a celestial doghouse. The old Midwest grid seer's crystal ball could rapidly become one. It gets the heave high if this isn't the real lowdown:

Ohio State 14, Purdue 7—Ohio State's exact caliber isn't easy to peg. However, the Buckeyes whipped Illinois 21-7 and Wisconsin 16-13, while Purdue conquered Illinois 21-6 and lost to the Badgers 23-14. This regionally televised game could be closer than the next minute. Purdue may have the defensive edge, but Don Clark's running and a little splurge in passing could do it for the Bucks.

Iowa 13, Minnesota 7 — Like Ohio State, Iowa extends its Big Ten title bid only a one touchdown favorite. Although the Hawkeye-Gopher rivalry is a rousing one, we like Iowa's speed and its best-in-the-nation defense against rushing. The Gophers have been getting good results from reserve quarterback Jim Reese. Passes annoy the little Hawkeye secondary and Reese is probably Minnesota's best tosser.

Michigan State 28, Notre Dame 13—Navy was the best team Notre Dame faced in its first five games and the Irish suffered a 20-6 broadside from the Middies. MSU's Spartans carry more guns than Navy. The Irish secondary will be busy chasing Walt Kowalczyk and Blance Martin and Jim Ninowski's passing will give them grief. It's hard for Terry Brennan to point for Michigan State with Oklahoma and Iowa following right behind on the Irish card.

Michigan 19, Illinois 13—Wolverine fullback Johnny Herrnstein returns for at least part-time duty. The Illinois reportedly are aching after scoring a statistical triumph, but actual 21-6 defeat against Purdue. Michigan is able to platoon quarterbacks Jim Van Pelt and Stan Noskin, but the Illinis have a good thrower, too, in unheralded Tom Haller.

Wisconsin 21, Northwestern 7—The Wildcats, crippled as they are, aren't as bad as their winless record indicates. However, the invading Badgers have too much speed and balance to be taken. Wisconsin held Ohio State to a 16-13 triumph. The Buckeyes blasted Northwestern, 47-6. Only a blizzard can make this an even game.

Indiana 14, Cincinnati 7—Leaving the Big Ten junge, the mauled Hoosiers can do a little preying of their own. It will be touch-and-go, though.

Penn State 28, Marquette 7—Another long Saturday for the Warriors.

New Indian Chieftain To Be Named Tuesday

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians' board of directors will appoint a new general manager when they meet here Tuesday. Among names being mentioned for the post are William O. DeWitt and Frank Lane, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Lions Work on Passing For Game at Circleville

There was little joy among the coaches of the WHS Lion football squad after Wednesday evening's practice.

Although they could not pinpoint the trouble, Coach Fred Domenico summed it up by saying "it just was not a good practice. . .but it did get better before we went to the showers."

However, the feeling among the coaches was that the boys will shake off the doldrums when they take the field against the Tigers at Circleville Friday night.

The chief worry was centered on the aerial game, something they had been counting on to crack the Tiger defense. Domenico explained Wednesday's drill on passing this way: "It just did not click."

Quarterback Chuck Hire, whose passing has been improving steadily this season, probably will get a chance to share more of the tossing with Buddy Lynch, Domenico said. Hire has been used more as a defensive halfback than offensive quarterback in previous games.

DOMENICO pointed out that the Circleville defense has been tough this season, although the Tigers have won only one game. That's one reason the WHS masterminds had hoped to develop a passing attack to go over the line rather than try to go through it.

Scouting reports show that Greenfield's Tigers made most of their advances through the air.

Incidentally, Coach Domenico said it was his personal opinion that the Circleville team was better than Greenfield's last Tuesday night in the game that ended in a 13-13 tie. He commented, too, that he thought the Greenfielders played as well against the Tigers as they did when they whipped the Lions 14 to 0.

Though they opened the season with a dismal string of five straight defeats, the Tigers have jumped out in style with their last two encounters, dropping Class A Rock Hill Friday night and tieing the mighty Greenfielders on Tuesday.

Their defensive line is a little lighter than the Lions', but it has been sound and effective all season. Tackling has been classy, and no team has found them an easy mark.

On offense, the Tigers have displayed backfield versatility, but not much blocking power. Whenever the line cooperates, though, the backfield can usually make use of it.

Quarterback Mike Hosler has done a lot of passing for the Tigers, and he is capable of doing damage on the quarterback sneak. Right Halfback Walt Arledge has carried successfully on running plays of every sort.

Fullback Larry Hannahs has been used mostly for the line plunge connections. Dick Bircher, Arledge's opposite number at halfback, has been successful with off-tackle plays, especially when the chips are down.

HERE ARE the probable starting lineups:

Celtics Do OK Even Without Mighty Cousy

BOSTON (AP)—Word around Boston a few years back was that if anything happened to Bob Cousy, the Celtics all-around everything, the National Basketball Assn. club would fall into the back bay.

Now, with the Celtics riding an undefeated, seven game winning streak after their 103-94 victory over the winless Minneapolis Lakers Wednesday night such is definitely not the case.

Cousy has been bothered by the flu bug for the last week, but still the Celtics have won four in a row with their star playing only a few minutes each game.

The big difference, of course, lies in the fact that Bill Sharman has taken over the scoring honors, and the defensive play of All-America Bill Russell has been enough to make opposing coaches lay down and cry.

The Lakers who have now lost five in a row, looked for a while like they might make mincemeat of the Celts as they scored 15 straight points to take a 44-40 half time lead. Then Sharman came back with a 13-point third period, and 29 overall. The Celts broke into the clear at 72-69 on Sharman's three point play.

When the Lakers got big ideas midway in the last period, pulling to within three points at 88-85, Russell took over and batted away several of Minneapolis' shots with his long arms and ham-like hands. Dick Garmaker led the Lakers with 26 points.

Cousy made a brief appearance and tallied four points.

Brown Says Steeler Game 'Important'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coach Paul Brown admits the game Sunday against the Pittsburgh Steelers is an important one.

At the halfway point in the 1957 season, the Browns stand at the top of the Eastern Division of the National Football League. Victories over the New York Giants and the Steelers were important in the Browns' bid to get back on top of the division after finishing fourth last season.

If the Browns, with a 5-1 record, can repeat those victories, they will be well on the way toward the sectional crown.

Top Rookies Are Sanford And Kubek

NEW YORK (AP)—Versatile Tony Kubek, who wasn't even on the New York Yankees' roster in spring training, and Jack Sanford, a pleasant pitching surprise to the Philadelphia Phils, today were named major league Rookies-of-the-Year for 1957.

Kubek was selected as the American League's outstanding freshman and Sanford captured the National League rookie award.

Kubek was a unanimous choice, receiving 23 votes. Frank Malzone of the Boston Red Sox was named on one ballot. Malzone, however, had been previously declared ineligible since he had 103 official at bats in 1956.

Sanford was named on 16 ballots. Teammate Ed Bouchee, a solid-hitting first baseman, was next with four votes. Pitcher Dick Drott of the Chicago Cubs received three votes and outfielder Bob Hazle of Milwaukee one.

Kubek, 22 last month, is a rangy left-handed swinger who batted .297 in 127 games. The Milwaukee native finished ninth among the league's leading batters and was the third highest hitter on the Yanks.

In the World Series against the Braves, he hit .286 and slugged two homers.

Sanford, a durable 28-year - old right-hander, spent seven years in the minors and two years in the Army before he came into his own in 1957, posting a 19-8 won-lost record for a .704 percentage, second best in the league.

National League Sets Openers for Next Year

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1958 National League baseball season will open April 15. The new schedule sends the Los Angeles Dodgers against the San Francisco Giants, Chicago at St. Louis, Philadelphia at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh at Milwaukee.

The second opening games on April 18, send San Francisco to Los Angeles, St. Louis to Chicago, Cincinnati to Pittsburgh and Milwaukee to Philadelphia.

SPORTS

Ohio State, Iowa, Spartans Offer All-America Prospects

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State, Iowa and Michigan State, battling it out for the Big Ten football championship, each has top All-America candidates.

The midwest board screening candidates for the AP's 1957 honor team is especially high on halfback Don Clark and end Leo Brown of Ohio State; tackle Alex Karras and end Jim Gibbons of Iowa; and end Sam Williams and center Dan Currie of Michigan State.

Michigan which put the only blemish on Iowa's record with a 21-21 tie last Saturday also has a highly-regarded brace, halfback Jim Pace and quarterback Jim Van Pelt.

The Buckeyes of Ohio State unbeaten in the conference race with a 4-0 record, have other well-recommended candidates in guard Aurelius Thomas and quarterback Frank Kremblas.

Further underscoring the terrific defensive strength that has left Iowa runnerup to Ohio State, Hawkeye tackle Dick Klein is another popular choice.

Michigan State (4-1 in the Big Ten) has a fine backfield prospect in Walt Kowalczyk with running mate, Blanche Martin, not far behind.

Others in varying degrees of contention with time running out include center Neil Habig of Purdue; ends Earl Hill of Wisconsin and Rod Hanson of Illinois; guard Al Ecuyer of Notre Dame; tackle Pat Burke of Michigan State; fullback Nick Pietrosante of Notre Dame; and quarterback Jim Ninowski of Michigan State.

Karras continues a top-heavy choice to regain the All-America honor he won last year.

The Big Hawkeye tackle harrassed Michigan all day last Saturday and jolted quarterback Van Pelt loose from the ball for a Wolverine fumble which set up Iowa's first touchdown.

The midwest selection board is composed of Leo Fischer of the Chicago American; Ollie Kuechle of the Milwaukee Journal; Dick Cullum of the Minneapolis Tribune; Jack Quinlan of Chicago Radio Station WIND; Joe Doyle of the South Bend Tribune; Bill Schrader of the Champaign, Ill., News-Gazette; Bert Mc Grane of the Des Moines Register; Don Wolfe of the Toledo Blade, and Harry Stapler of the Detroit News.

Lineman of Week Also New Father

ATLANTA (AP) — Being selected lineman of the week is only the second-best present Georgia Tech center Don Stephenson received this week.

Pretty Karen Stephenson presented Don with a husky son, Donald Keith, Tuesday and any other kind of honor naturally has to take a back seat.

Besides, being named lineman of the week for spectacular play against Duke is old stuff to Stephenson. He won the honor last year in Durham and repeated with his sterling play here Saturday when Tech upset the Blue Devils 13-0.

French-Algerian

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A rugged little French-Algerian named Alphonse Halimi Wednesday night outslugged and outboxed Raul Macias of Mexico for the undisputed world bantamweight championship.

Buckeye Back Tops Big 10 In Yardage

CHICAGO (AP)—Don Clark, Ohio State's 200-pound junior halfback from Akron, has become the Big Ten's leading yardage maker and scorer, official conference statistics showed today.

Mainly through Clark's yard gaining have the league leading, unbeaten Buckeyes become the Big Ten's top offensive team.

Relying heavily on their ground game and ball control, the Bucks have averaged 382 yards in four conference games, 320 of them by rushing, and have a scoring average of 35 points.

The Bucks have used more than 64 running plays per game and have averaged 5.2 yards per play.

Clark has carried the ball 81 times for a net of 459 yards and a 5.7 average.

Top average is 9.2 by his teammate Joe Trivisonno, but he has made only 18 trips. Clark also has completed 2 out of 3 passes for 20 more yards giving him a 479 total for No. 1 ranking in total offense.

Randy Duncan, Iowa quarterback, is second in total offense with 20 yards rushing and 421 passing for 441. Second to Clark in rushing is Michigan State's Walt Kowalczyk with 340 yards in 59 carries.

Top passer is Jim Ninowski of MSU with 27 strikes in 44 tosses for 437 yards and 4 touchdowns.

PCL Chief Ready For Frick Parley

NEW YORK (AP)—Leslie O'Connor, president of the Pacific Coast League, was reluctant to discuss specific aims in fear of "muddying the waters" before today's special meeting with Commissioner Ford Frick to study realignment problems facing baseball's top minor league.

O'Connor, flying in from the West Coast, will tackle the problems arising from the Giants' and Dodgers' shift to San Francisco and Los Angeles in a conference with Frick, George Trautman, president of the National Assn. (governing body of the minors), and representatives of the two National League clubs.

Briton Chalks Boat Record of 239 Mph.

CONSTON, England (AP) — Britain's Donald Campbell set a new world water record in his boat Bluebird today with an estimated average speed of 239 m ph.

Campbell, who recently returned from the United States, had two runs over misty Coniston Water at an estimated 260 mph and 218 mph. The record is an average of both.

Bucks Picked To Top Purdue By 14 to 7

Midwestern Expert Predicts Notre Dame To Lose Second Game

By JERRY LISKA
Midwest AP Sports Editor

CHICAGO (AP)—Sputnik II is a celestial doghouse. The old Midwest grid seer's crystal ball could rapidly become one. It gets the heave ho if this isn't the real lowdown:

Ohio State 14, Purdue 7—Ohio State's exact caliber isn't easy to peg. However, the Buckeyes whipped Illinois 21-7 and Wisconsin 16-13, while Purdue conquered Illinois 21-6 and lost to the Badgers 23-14. This regionally televised game could be closer than the next minute. Purdue may have the defensive edge, but Don Clark's running and a little splurge in passing could do it for the Bucks.

Iowa 13, Minnesota 7 — Like Ohio State, Iowa extends its Big Ten title bid only a one touchdown favorite. Although the Hawkeye-Gopher rivalry is a rousing one, we like Iowa's speed and its best-in-the-nation defense against rushing. The Gophers have been getting good results from reserve quarterback Jim Reese. Passes annoy the little Hawkeye secondary and Reese is probably Minnesota's best tosser.

Michigan State 28, Notre Dame 13—Navy was the best team Notre Dame faced in its first five games and the Irish suffered a 20-6 broadside from the Middies. MSU's Spartans carry more guns than Navy. The Irish secondary will be busy chasing Walt Kowalczyk and Blance Martin and Jim Ninowski's passing will give them grief. It's hard for Terry Brennan to point for Michigan State with Oklahoma and Iowa following right behind on the Irish card.

Michigan 19, Illinois 13—Wolverine fullback Johnny Herrnstein returns for at least part-time duty. The Illinois reportedly are aching after scoring a statistical triumph, but actual 21-6 defeat against Purdue. Michigan is able to platoon quarterbacks Jim Van Pelt and Stan Noskin, but the Illinis have a good thrower, too, in unheralded Tom Haller.

Wisconsin 21, Northwestern 7—The Wildcats, crippled as they are, aren't as bad as their winless record indicates. However, the invading Badgers have too much speed and balance to be taken. Wisconsin held Ohio State to a 16-13 triumph. The Buckeyes blasted Northwestern, 47-6. Only a blizzard can make this an even game.

Indiana 14, Cincinnati 7—Leaving the Big Ten junge, the mauled Hoosiers can do a little preying of their own. It will be touch-and-go, though.

Penn State 28, Marquette 7—Another long Saturday for the Warriors.

New Indian Chieftain To Be Named Tuesday

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians' board of directors will appoint a new general manager when they meet here Tuesday. Among names being mentioned for the post are William O. DeWitt and Frank Lane, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Lions Work on Passing For Game at Circleville

There was little joy among the coaches of the WHS Lion football squad after Wednesday evening's practice.

Although they could not pinpoint the trouble, Coach Fred Domenico summed it up by saying "it just was not a good practice. . .but it did get better before we went to the showers."

However, the feeling among the coaches was that the boys will shake off the doldrums when they take the field against the Tigers at Circleville Friday night.

The chief worry was centered on the aerial game, something they had been counting on to crack the Tiger defense. Domenico explained Wednesday's drill on passing this way: "It just did not click."

Quarterback Chuck Hire, whose passing has been improving steadily this season, probably will get a chance to share more of the tossing with Buddy Lynch, Domenico said. Hire has been used more as a defensive halfback than offensive quarterback in previous games.

DOMENICO pointed out that the Circleville defense has been tough this season, although the Tigers have won only one game. That's one reason the WHS masterminds had hoped to develop a passing attack to go over the line rather than try to go through it.

Scouting reports show that Greenfield's Tigers made most of their advances through the air.

Incidentally, Coach Domenico said it was his personal opinion that the Circleville team was better than Greenfield's last Tuesday night in the game that ended in a 13-13 tie. He commented, too, that he thought the Greenfielders played as well against the Tigers as they did when they whipped the Lions 14 to 0.

Though they opened the season with a dismal string of five straight defeats, the Tigers have jumped out in style with their last two encounters, dropping Class A Rock Hill Friday night and tieing the mighty Greenfielders on Tuesday.

Their defensive line is a little lighter than the Lions', but it has been sound and effective all season. Tackling has been classy, and no team has found them an easy mark.

On offense, the Tigers have displayed backfield versatility, but not much blocking power. Whenever the line cooperates, though, the backfield can usually make use of it.

Quarterback Mike Hosler has done a lot of passing for the Tigers, and he is capable of doing damage on the quarterback sneak. Right Halfback Walt Arledge has carried successfully on running plays of every sort.

Fullback Larry Hannahs has been used mostly for the line plunge connections. Dick Bircher, Arledge's opposite number at halfback, has been successful with off-tackle plays, especially when the chips are down.

HERE ARE the probable starting lineups:

Celtics Do OK Even Without Mighty Cousy

BOSTON (AP)—Word around Boston a few years back was that if anything happened to Bob Cousy, the Celtics all-around everything, the National Basketball Assn. club would fall into the back bay.

Now, with the Celtics riding an undefeated, seven game winning streak after their 103-94 victory over the winless Minneapolis Lakers Wednesday night such is definitely not the case.

Cousy has been bothered by the flu bug for the last week. but still the Celtics have won four in a row with their star playing only a few minutes each game.

The big difference, of course, lies in the fact that Bill Sharman has taken over the scoring honors, and the defensive play of All-America Bill Russell has been enough to make opposing coaches lay down and cry.

The Lakers who have now lost five in a row, looked for a while like they might make mincemeat of the Celts as they scored 15 straight points to take a 44-40 half time lead. Then Sharman came back with a 13-point third period, and 29 overall. The Celts broke into the clear at 72-69 on Sharman's three point play.

When the Lakers got big ideas midway in the last period, pulling to within three points at 88-85, Russell took over and batted away several of Minneapolis' shots with his long arms and ham-like hands. Dick Garmaker led the Lakers with 26 points.

Cousy made a brief appearance and tallied four points.

Brown Says Steeler Game 'Important'

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coach Paul Brown admits the game Sunday against the Pittsburgh Steelers is an important one.

At the halfway point in the 1957 season, the Browns stand at the top of the Eastern Division of the National Football League. Victories over the New York Giants and the Steelers were important in the Browns' bid to get back on top of the division after finishing fourth last season.

If the Browns, with a 5-1 record, can repeat those victories, they will be well on the way toward the sectional crown.

Top Rookies Are Sanford And Kubek

NEW YORK (AP)—Versatile Tony Kubek, who wasn't even on the New York Yankees' roster in spring training, and Jack Sanford, a pleasant pitching surprise to the Philadelphia Phils, today were named major league Rookies-of-the-Year for 1957.

Kubek was selected as the American League's outstanding freshman and Sanford captured the National League rookie award.

Kubek was a unanimous choice, receiving 23 votes. Frank Malzone of the Boston Red Sox was named on one ballot. Malzone, however, had been previously declared ineligible since he had 103 official at bats in 1956.

Sanford was named on 16 ballots. Teammate Ed Bouchee, a solid-hitting first baseman, was next with four votes. Pitcher Dick Drott of the Chicago Cubs received three votes and outfielder Bob Hazle of Milwaukee one.

Kubek, 22 last month, is a rangy left-handed swinger who batted .297 in 127 games. The Milwaukee native finished ninth among the league's leading batters and was the third highest hitter on the Yanks.

In the World Series against the Braves, he hit .286 and slugged two homers.

Sanford, a durable 28-year - old right-hander, spent seven years in the minors and two years in the Army before he came into his own in 1957, posting a 19-8 won-lost record for a .704 percentage, second best in the league.

National League Sets Openers for Next Year

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1958 National League baseball season will open April 15. The new schedule sends the Los Angeles Dodgers against the San Francisco Giants, Chicago at St. Louis, Philadelphia at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh at Milwaukee.

The second opening games on April 18, send San Francisco to Los Angeles, St. Louis to Chicago, Cincinnati to Pittsburgh and Milwaukee to Philadelphia.

Ohio State, Iowa, Spartans Offer All-America Prospects

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State, Iowa and Michigan State, battling it out for the Big Ten football championship, each has top All-America candidates.

The midwest board screening candidates for the AP's 1957 honor team is especially high on halfback Don Clark and end Leo Brown of Ohio State; tackle Alex Karras and end Jim Gibbons of Iowa; and end Sam Williams and center Dan Currie of Michigan State.

Michigan which put the only blemish on Iowa's record with a 21-21 tie last Saturday also has a highly-regarded brace, halfback Jim Pace and quarterback Jim Van Pelt.

The Buckeyes of Ohio State unbeaten in the conference race with a 4-0 record, have other well-recommended candidates in guard Aurelius Thomas and quarterback Frank Kremblas.

Further underscoring the terrific defensive strength that has left Iowa runnerup to Ohio State, Hawkeye tackle Dick Klein is another popular choice.

Michigan State (4-1 in the Big Ten) has a fine backfield prospect in Walt Kowalczyk with running mate, Blanche Martin, not far behind.

Others in varying degrees of contention with time running out include center Neil Habig of Purdue; ends Earl Hill of Wisconsin and Rod Hanson of Illinois; guard Al Ecuyer of Notre Dame; tackle Pat Burke of Michigan State; fullback Nick Pietrosante of Notre Dame; and quarterback Jim Ninowski of Michigan State.

Karras continues a top-heavy choice to regain the All-America honor he won last year.

The Big Hawkeye tackle harrassed Michigan all day last Saturday and jolted quarterback Van Pelt loose from the ball for a Wolverine fumble which set up Iowa's first touchdown.

Clark bolstered his All-America bid with a four-touchdown performance against Northwestern and is far and away the Big Ten's leading rusher.

The midwest selection board is composed of Leo Fischer of the Chicago American; Ollie Kuechle of the Milwaukee Journal; Dick Cullum of the Minneapolis Tribune; Jack Quinlan of Chicago Radio Station WIND; Joe Doyle of the South Bend Tribune; Bill Schrader of the Champaign, Ill., News-Gazette; Bert Mc Grane of the Des Moines Register; Don Wolfe of the Toledo Blade, and Harry Stapler of the Detroit News.

Lineman of Week Also New Father

ATLANTA (AP) — Being selected lineman of the week is only the second-best present Georgia Tech center Don Stephenson received this week.

Pretty Karen Stephenson presented Don with a husky son, Donald Keith, Tuesday and any other kind of honor naturally has to take a back seat.

Besides, being named lineman of the week for spectacular play against Duke is old stuff to Stephenson. He won the honor last year in Durham and repeated with his sterling play here Saturday when Tech upset the Blue Devils 13-0.

French-Algerian

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A rugged little French-Algerian named Alphonse Halimi Wednesday night outslugged and outboxed Raul Macias of Mexico for the undisputed world bantamweight championship.

Buckeye Back Tops Big 10 In Yardage

CHICAGO (AP)—Don Clark, Ohio State's 200-pound junior halfback from Akron, has become the Big Ten's leading yardage maker and scorer, official conference statistics showed today.

Mainly through Clark's yard gaining have the league leading, unbeaten Buckeyes become the Big Ten's top offensive team.

Relying heavily on their ground game and ball control, the Bucks have averaged 382 yards in four conference games, 320 of them by rushing, and have a scoring average of 35 points.

The Bucks have used more than 64 running plays per game and have averaged 5.2 yards per play.

Clark has carried the ball 81 times for a net of 459 yards and a 5.7 average.

Top average is 9.2 by his teammate Joe Trivisonno, but he has made only 18 trips. Clark also has completed 2 out of 3 passes for 20 more yards giving him a 479 total for No. 1 ranking in total offense.

Randy Duncan, Iowa quarterback, is second in total offense with 20 yards rushing and 421 passing for 441. Second to Clark in rushing is Michigan State's Walt Kowalczyk with 340 yards in 59 carries.

Top passer is Jim Ninowski of MSU with 27 strikes in 44 tosses for 437 yards and 4 touchdowns.

PCL Chief Ready For Frick Parley

NEW YORK (AP)—Leslie O'Connor, president of the Pacific Coast League, was reluctant to discuss specific aims in fear of "muddying the waters" before today's special meeting with Commissioner Ford Frick to study realignment problems facing baseball's top minor league.

O'Connor, flying in from the West Coast, will tackle the problems arising from the Giants' and Dodgers' shift to San Francisco and Los Angeles in a conference with Frick, George Trautman, president of the National Assn. (governing body of the minors), and representatives of the two National League clubs.

Briton Chalks Boat Record of 239 Mph.

CONSTON, England (AP) — Britain's Donald Campbell set a new world water record in his boat Bluebird today with an estimated average speed of 239 m ph.

Campbell, who recently returned from the United States, had two runs over misty Coniston Water at an estimated 260 mph and 218 mph. The record is an average of both.

Absence from School Is Still above Normal

Absenteeism, at least partially out the city and county schools Thursday, but in a "spotty" pattern.

Three Miami Trace schools reported attendance well within the normal attendance percentage, but at the same time, six other schools of the district reported greater absenteeism Thursday than Wednesday.

The highest percentage of absenteeism reported in the Miami Trace district was at the Wilson School which opened Thursday for the first time this week. One quarter of the students, 25 per cent, were away from their desks. All teachers were there, however.

Walter W. Boyer, Miami Trace superintendent, reported nine teachers were away from their desks Thursday. "However," Boyer said, "only five of those nine has the flu. Others are out because of illness in their families, others personal illness or injury."

"We are well aware that we do have above normal absenteeism," Boyer said, "but we believe it should be understood that up to 10 per cent of reported absenteeism is within our expected normal absence. The teacher absenteeism today is typical of what I am trying to say." "Only five of the nine absent has the flu. The same percentage may be true with our absent students."

W. A. SMITH, superintendent of the Washington C. H. schools, reported two teachers out and student absenteeism 13.5 per cent better than the 15.9 per cent absent of enrollment Thursday. This was Wednesday.

Miami Trace schools showing increased absenteeism Thursday were: Marion, 17 per cent (16.3 per cent Wednesday; Eber, 18.1 per cent (16.9 per cent Wednesday); Milledgeville, 14.2 per cent (10.8 per cent Wednesday); Bloomingburg, 12.1 per cent (11.1 per cent Wednesday); Chaffin, 16 per cent (13 per cent Wednesday), and New Martinsburg, 4.1 per cent (Wednesday all students were in class.)

Schools showing better attendance Thursday than Wednesday were: Wayne, 6.4 per cent (10.6 Wednesday); Jeffersonville, 16 per cent (17 Wednesday); Bookwalter, 21 per cent (28.3 Wednesday), Staunton, 16.5 per cent (17.4 Wednesday), and Madison Mills, 6.6 per cent (8.3 Wednesday).

In the six Washington C. H. schools, absenteeism totaled 308 Thursday. Wednesday it was 361. In two of the schools more students were absent Thursday than Wednesday. Cherry Hill reported 37 out, two more than Wednesday. Eastside had 60 students absent Thursday, four more than Wednesday.

The other four city schools had better attendance. Central had 71 absent Thursday, 85 were out Wednesday; Rose Avenue had 38 students out, 51 were absent Wednesday; Sunnyside had 43 absent, 51 were out Wednesday, and the high school reported 59 absent Thursday, 83 were out Wednesday.

A total of 11 teachers were absent Thursday from both the city and county schools. All had been replaced by substitutes. The two absent from the city system are Mrs. Ruth Rider and Mrs. Rose Limes. In the Miami Trace district absent teachers are: Madison Mills, Mrs. Lula Thomas; Bookwalter, Mrs. Inez Whiteside and Mrs. Mildred Hall; Wayne, Mrs. Betty Akiens and Mrs. Grace Judy; Bloomingburg, both Principal and Mrs. Gilbert Biddle. Mrs. Mary Foster and Mrs. Nellie Mossbarger.

Hope Revived For U. N. Arms Cut Confab

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Western delegates were elated today over the thumping majority given their call for new disarmament talks, but no one seemed to know how to get the Russians to negotiate again.

The 57-9 vote accorded the 24-nation proposal by the General Assembly's top Political Committee brought predictions from some that Russia would reconsider her vow not to meet with the 12-nation Disarmament Commission or its five-nation subcommittee.

Diplomats said privately, however, that any quick Soviet backdown was unlikely in view of Russia's declaration after the vote that the 24-nation plan had served only to drive "negotiations into a final deadlock."

The Western elation appeared to stem mainly from the feeling that the vote isolated Russia from three-fourths of the Assembly on the vital arms issue. The Soviets failed to muster any support in opposing the plan except from their own bloc.

But the chilling fact remained that there would be little point in the four Western subcommittee members (Britain, France, the United States and Canada) reviving the arms talks without Russia sitting in.

The resolution calls on the subcommittee—which does the real work in the arms negotiations—to give priority to the principles behind the Western proposals rejected by Russia last August.

Geauga Countian's UFO Story Checked

CHARDON (AP)—The sheriff's office today was trying to find a trace of an unidentified flying object which was reported to have landed in Geauga County Wednesday night.

The object was reported by Mrs. Olden Moore of near Huntsburg, who said her husband saw it as he was returning home from Painesville about 11 p. m.

Mrs. Moore said her husband was driving on Ohio 86 near U.S. 6 when the motor of his car suddenly stalled and he saw an egg-shaped object flying over, emitting a bluish-green flame. The object landed in a nearby field, she said.

Moore got his car started and hurried to his home six miles away to get his wife and take her to see the object, but when they returned about a half hour later it was gone, Mrs. Moore said.

Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Mickle reported that "almost all" of the steel bars thrown from a tractor-trailer rig in a wreck in Staunton early Wednesday can be saved.

The cab was wrecked, but "the trailer and the goods weren't damaged too much," Mickle said.

Adolph Gentry, 34, Atlanta, Ga., told Mickle that the truck's steering mechanism failed to work when he rounded a curve on Route 62 at Worthington Rd., about 1 a. m. Wednesday and that the truck skidded into a ditch and turned over on its side.

The cab was wrenched loose by the crash, and rolled on over into a field on the J. O. Wilson farm. Gentry was uninjured.

Absence from School Is Still above Normal

Absenteeism, at least partially out the city and county schools Thursday, but in a "spotty" pattern.

Three Miami Trace schools reported attendance well within the normal attendance percentage, but at the same time, six other schools of the district reported greater absenteeism Thursday than Wednesday.

The highest percentage of absenteeism reported in the Miami Trace district was at the Wilson School which opened Thursday for the first time this week. One quarter of the students, 25 per cent, were away from their desks. All teachers were there, however.

Walter W. Boyer, Miami Trace superintendent, reported nine teachers were away from their desks Thursday. "However," Boyer said, "only five of those nine has the flu. Others are out because of illness in their families, others personal illness or injury."

"We are well aware that we do have above normal absenteeism," Boyer said, "but we believe it should be understood that up to 10 per cent of reported absenteeism is within our expected normal absence. The teacher absenteeism today is typical of what I am trying to say." "Only five of the nine absent has the flu. The same percentage may be true with our absent students."

W. A. SMITH, superintendent of the Washington C. H. schools, reported two teachers out and student absenteeism 13.5 per cent better than the 15.9 per cent absent of enrollment Thursday. This was Wednesday.

Miami Trace schools showing increased absenteeism Thursday were: Marion, 17 per cent (16.3 per cent Wednesday; Eber, 18.1 per cent (16.9 per cent Wednesday); Milledgeville, 14.2 per cent (10.8 per cent Wednesday); Bloomingburg, 12.1 per cent (11.1 per cent Wednesday); Chaffin, 16 per cent (13 per cent Wednesday), and New Martinsburg, 4.1 per cent (Wednesday all students were in class.)

Schools showing better attendance Thursday than Wednesday were: Wayne, 6.4 per cent (10.6 Wednesday); Jeffersonville, 16 per cent (17 Wednesday); Bookwalter, 21 per cent (28.3 Wednesday), Staunton, 16.5 per cent (17.4 Wednesday), and Madison Mills, 6.6 per cent (8.3 Wednesday).

In the six Washington C. H. schools, absenteeism totaled 308 Thursday. Wednesday it was 361. In two of the schools more students were absent Thursday than Wednesday. Cherry Hill reported 37 out, two more than Wednesday. Eastside had 60 students absent Thursday, four more than Wednesday.

The other four city schools had better attendance. Central had 71 absent Thursday, 85 were out Wednesday; Rose Avenue had 38 students out, 51 were absent Wednesday; Sunnyside had 43 absent, 51 were out Wednesday, and the high school reported 59 absent Thursday, 83 were out Wednesday.

A total of 11 teachers were absent Thursday from both the city and county schools. All had been replaced by substitutes. The two absent from the city system are Mrs. Ruth Rider and Mrs. Rose Limes. In the Miami Trace district absent teachers are: Madison Mills, Mrs. Lulu Thomas; Bookwalter, Mrs. Inez Whiteside and Mrs. Mildred Hall; Wayne, Mrs. Betty Akiens and Mrs. Grace Judy; Bloomingburg, both Principal and Mrs. Gilbert Biddle. Mrs. Mary Foster and Mrs. Nellie Mossbarger.

Hope Revived For U. N. Arms Cut Confab

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Western delegates were elated today over the thumping majority given their call for new disarmament talks, but no one seemed to know how to get the Russians to negotiate again.

The 57-9 vote accorded the 24-nation proposal by the General Assembly's top Political Committee brought predictions from some that Russia would reconsider her vow not to meet with the 12-nation Disarmament Commission or its five-nation subcommittee.

Diplomats said privately, however, that any quick Soviet backdown was unlikely in view of Russia's declaration after the vote that the 24-nation plan had served only to drive "negotiations into a final deadlock."

The Western elation appeared to stem mainly from the feeling that the vote isolated Russia from three-fourths of the Assembly on the vital arms issue. The Soviets failed to muster any support in opposing the plan except from their own bloc.

But the chilling fact remained that there would be little point in the four Western subcommittee members (Britain, France, the United States and Canada) reviving the arms talks without Russia sitting in.

The resolution calls on the subcommittee—which does the real work in the arms negotiations—to give priority to the principles behind the Western proposals rejected by Russia last August.

Geauga Countian's UFO Story Checked

CHARDON (AP)—The sheriff's office today was trying to find a trace of an unidentified flying object which was reported to have landed in Geauga County Wednesday night.

The object was reported by Mrs. Olden Moore of near Huntsburg, who said her husband saw it as he was returning home from Painesville about 11 p. m.

Mrs. Moore said her husband was driving on Ohio 86 near U.S. 6 when the motor of his car suddenly stalled and he saw an egg-shaped object flying over, emitting a bluish-green flame. The object landed in a nearby field, she said.

Moore got his car started and hurried to his home six miles away to get his wife and take her to see the object, but when they returned about a half hour later it was gone, Mrs. Moore said.
